

Committee of 18 Named By Roosevelt to Study Federal Education Aid

Dr. Floyd Reeves of University of Chicago is Chairman; Action Follows Move on Crop Insurance Legislation.

VARIED ROSTER

At Washington Secretary Wallace Calls Administration Leaders to Study Reserves.

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—President Roosevelt named today a committee of 18—headed by Dr. Floyd Reeves of the University of Chicago—to study the need for an "expanded program" of federal aid for vocational education.

The action followed the President's moves to formulate legislation for crop insurance, more efficient use of "Dust Bowl" natural resources, and farm tenant aid.

Serving with Dr. Reeves, Professor of Education of Chicago, will be representatives of four government departments and the Tennessee Valley authority, and private authorities from the fields of labor, agriculture, home economics, industry, education and vocational rehabilitation.

The study is an outgrowth of the bill by the last Congress of the House of Representatives (D-Ga.) authorizing an increase over the next few years of more than $10,000,000 in federal contributions to the states for vocational education. The act will become operative next July 1, but Congress will have to appropriate the additional funds first.

Disinterested Review.

In a letter to the committee membership made public today, the President pointed out that when he signed the bill he indicated a belief that before it took effect the "whole subject should be reviewed by a disinterested group."

"It is my thought," he said, "that such a group should study the experience under the existing program of federal aid for vocational education, the relation of such training to general education and to prevailing economic and social conditions, and the extent of the need for an expanded program."

He added he hoped each person named would find it possible to "assist in the development of a sound basis for a program of vocational education which will be of maximum benefit to those affected."

Others named on the committee were: John P. Frey, secretary-treasurer, Metal Trades Department, American Federation of Labor; Thomas Kennedy, lieutenant governor of Pennsylvania, and secretary-treasurer, United Mine Workers of America; Elizabeth Christman, secretary-treasurer, National Women's Trade Union League of America.

Henry C. Taylor, director, Farm Foundation, Chicago; Dr. Edmund Brunner, Teachers College, Columbia University, New York; Alice Edwards, executive secretary, American Home Economics Association; Richard Allen, personnel manager, Ayers department store, Indianapolis; T. J. Thomas, assistant to the president, Burlington Mines, Chicago.

John H. Zink, president, American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers, Baltimore; the Rev. George Johnson, director, Department of Education, National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C.; Dr. A. B. Moehlman, professor of education, University of Michigan; Henry Esberg, Vocational Rehabilitation Authority, New York.

Oscar Chapman, assistant secretary of the Interior; Katherine Lennett, chief of children's bureau, labor department; Mordca Eekiel, economic adviser, agriculture department; Ernest Draper, assistant secretary of commerce, and Gordon A. Clapp, personnel director, TVA.

Leaders Called.

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP).—Administration leaders selected by President Roosevelt to formulate a federal crop insurance plan for suggestions to Congress were called into session today by Secretary Wallace, chairman of the group.

The "first thing to do," Wallace said, was to determine reserves necessary for insurance—or the maximum reserve stock of wheat, corn or oats needed to meet the country's demands from year to year.

After that, the secretary said, "some form of production control" would have to be considered.

Agricultural department officials have been working on an insurance plan under which both premiums and insurance would be paid in kind. In a certain portion of his crop over to the government, which would hold the commodity in reserve. When crops failed, the farmer would receive an insurance payment in the form of the commodity.

At his press conference, Wallace said President Roosevelt's action in setting up the crop insurance committee was not timed to "steal the show" from Governor Alf Landon.

Wallace asserted he did not know the Landon plan to discuss crop insurance in a speech tonight at Des Moines.

Council Revokes Use of Municipal Auditorium By League Against War

Industrial Committee to Sponsor Boxing Bouts

Boxing will be resumed in Kingston.

This was announced today by Mayor Conrad J. Heiseleman, who expects the sport to help swell the coffers of the Kingston Industrial Committee, appointed to bring factories to this city.

The mayor at a meeting of the building committee of the Municipal Auditorium, Monday Night, made known the plan to run boxing, which was heartily endorsed by the men in charge of the made over arena where fights once packed 'em in to the rafters.

This sport, which seems very popular now all along the Hudson Valley, should be profitable for the worthy cause the mayor opined, and also should serve to stimulate and awaken athletic activities in other lines.

Kingston needs more sports, especially this popular variety, Alderman Paul Zucca, chairman of the building committee agreed, and said he was very much in favor of seeing boxing promoted for the Industrial Committee.

This afternoon, Joe Kelly, sports editor of The Freeman, started negotiations with the Adirondack Division of the Amateur Athletic Union for a local sanction, and indications are that the papers will be completed and in the hands of Mayor Heiseleman in the near future.

Statement by the League Against War and Fascism

Statements that the peace meeting planned for September 23 is sponsored by an organization which is "unpatriotic and subversive" are emphatically denied by the Kingston Branch of the American League Against War and Fascism. This organization is definitely non-political and non-partisan and seeks to promote the highest patriotic ideals.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee held last night these publicized comments were discussed. Denial particularly is made of the published assertion that the league is "definitely against the American Legion itself." The executive committee feels that this misunderstanding was due to a misreading of the league's pamphlet. The league is not a "foe" of the Legion. It only opposes the use of troops, the use of the American Legion, the use of law and order committees, the use of vigilantes in strikes and labor conflicts.

On the importance of preserving peace it was further pointed out that both organizations are agreed. Attention was especially called to the speech of Newton D. Baker (former secretary of war) at the Legion convention in Cleveland yesterday in which he challenged the Legionnaires to lead the way toward world peace.

The speaker at Monday's peace meeting at the Municipal Auditorium on September 23 will be Miss Margaret Forsyth of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., who is also a representative of the Women's Peace Conference of the Churches of America. This will be her first public appearance after returning from the World Peace Congress at Brussels.

Ulster County Fair Opens in Armory On Friday Morning

The annual Ulster County Fair will open Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the new state armory on Manor avenue, and will close on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The fair this year promises to be one of the best ever held in the county. One of the big features, aside from the exhibits, will be the amateur show to be staged Friday evening, and also on Saturday afternoon.

This year there will be a fine exhibit of cattle, horses and poultry. Some of the finest stock in the county will be on view at the fair to compete for the various premiums and prizes that are offered. The annual fair is the means by which about $5,000 in premium money is distributed to the exhibitors of Ulster county.

There is expected to be an unusually fine display of fruits and vegetables. Other features will be exhibits of the various Granges in the county, the 4-H Clubs and the home department.

No effort is being spared to make the fair one of the best of its kind in the Hudson valley.

The Kingston Branch of the American League Against War and Fascism must seek another meeting place for the public meeting it had planned to hold Monday evening in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, as the building and supply committee of the Common Council, which has charge of the Auditorium, at a meeting held last evening at the city hall adopted a resolution favoring the cancellation of the permit granted to use the building, and City Clerk E. J. Dempsey was instructed to write Dr. Charles Parsons of 88 Maiden Lane, a member of the Kingston Branch, to that effect, and also setting forth the resolution adopted by the council committee.

Last Friday evening Kingston Post of the American Legion voted to reject an invitation to attend the meeting on the ground that the League was an organization that was "unpatriotic and subversive to foreign influence of destruction."

The letter written to Dr. Parsons by the city clerk setting forth that the permission that had been granted to use the Auditorium had been revoked and also setting forth the resolution adopted by the building and supply committee follows:

Sept. 22nd, 1936
Dr. Charles Parsons
88 Maiden Lane,
Kingston, N. Y.
Dear Sir:

Re Permit No. 1
Municipal Auditorium
The American League Against War and Fascism
Sept. 25th, 1936.

At a meeting of the Building and Supply Committee of the Common Council, held September 21st, 1936, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"RESOLVED, that the building and supply committee of the Common Council favors the cancellation of the permit heretofore granted to the American League Against War and Fascism for the use of the Municipal Auditorium, for the reason that the aims and purposes of said League, as described in their literature, are opposed to orderly and constitutional government as now existing in the United States."

In accordance with the above resolution the permission heretofore granted for the use of the Auditorium is therefore hereby revoked. Very truly,
E. J. DEMPSEY,
City Clerk.

GARAGE WASHERS, POLISHERS CALLED ON STRIKE TODAY

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—The garage washers and polishers union called its 3,000 members in Manhattan to a strike today, in a demand for higher wages and shorter hours.

The strike, voted last night, spread from the Bronx where workers left their jobs last Friday. Jack Pollard, union manager, estimated 1,600 employees were on strike in 450 Bronx garages.

Thirteen arrests have been made on charges of coercion, intimidation, and disorderly conduct. Manhattan police went on duty today with orders from Deputy Chief Inspector E. A. Bracken to guard against any violation of the law.

The union demands a cut in hours from nine to eight per day, and wages of $6 per week for day workers and $8 for night workers. They now receive $24 and $27.

Phillips is Nominated
Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 22 (AP).—Mayor Alfred N. Phillips, Jr., of Stamford, was nominated last night as a candidate for Congress by Democrats of the Fourth Congressional District which embraces Fairfield county. Phillips probably will oppose Rep. Schuyler Merritt of Stamford, scheduled to be renominated by Republicans here Saturday. Phillips defeated City Clerk Leroy D. Downs of Norwalk, 173 to 17. Disorder among the delegates during the convention preliminaries resulted in a call for police rifle cars.

Support For Brewster.
Johnstown, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—Robert T. Cross, chairman of the Fulton county Republican committee, said in a statement here last night that "all the counties in the fourth judicial district" would support Supreme Court Justice O. Byron Brewster of Ellipticville for governor at the Republican state convention, Cross denied reports that the ten convention delegates of Hamilton and Fulton counties would support the candidacy of State Senator George M. Fearon, of Syracuse. The ten he said "are for Brewster."

San Francisco, Sept. 22 (AP).—Robert V. Fleming, president of the American Bankers Association, said today that his systems throughout the United States "should be placed on a sounder basis." Fleming made the observation in his annual report prepared for presentation at the first general session of the bankers' general convention. He asserted in the prepared speech that he spoke in a "unanimous spirit and advocated the support with a view of stabilizing the situation."

Spanish Reds Making Desperate Effort Today To Stop Rebels at Madrid

Fascists Confident Trained Soldiers Would Overwhelm Hastily Organized Loyalist Militiamen; Announce Capture of Maqueda.

ALCAZAR TUMBLES

Dogged Rebels Underground as Last Alcazar Tower Falls; "Italian Dictatorship" Charged.

(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Talavera De La Reina, Spain, Sept. 22.—Spanish insurgents prepared to withstand a desperate government counter-offensive behind Maqueda today as their Madrid enemies rushed heavy reinforcements into the line in a final effort to save the capital.

Marching in four columns toward Madrid, the insurgents were confident their trained soldiers would overwhelm the government's hastily recruited militiamen.

Officers said the day for Gen. Francisco Franco's supreme effort to storm the capital defenses "might be close."

Franco's advance guard descended on the strategic highway junction of Maqueda while their martial companions "mopped up" the uneven territory on both sides of the Talavera-Madrid road.

(The capture of Maqueda, opening direct roads to Madrid and Toledo, was announced officially by the Fascist provisional government at Burgos.)

(Occupation of the strategic town followed a swift advance from Talavera before which the government defense wilted and the Socialist troops retired.)

(Franco's troops occupied trenches protected by a triple line of barbed wire and were reported to have seized thousands of cartridges, numerous machine guns and several batteries of government artillery.)

(Capture of the highway point gave the Fascists control of two main highways, one leading to Madrid 45 miles northeast, and the other leading to Toledo 26 miles southeast. Both Madrid and Toledo are dominated by government forces.)

Terrific Fire
The Fascist advance was accompanied by terrific fire from rifles, machine guns, and artillery in the hands of the attackers. Fighting planes rained bullets and bombs on the retreating Socialists and engaged in aerial combat with government ships which attempted to cut the Fascist advance from the rear.

(Dispatches received in London declared the insurgents were concentrating a bitter attack on Madrid from four sides.)

(The accounts told of a "major battle" being fought 49 miles from the capital in the Talavera sector, apparently near the cross-roads at Maqueda.)

Moorish Legionnaires patrolled the streets of Otero, a small settlement south of the highway about midway between Talavera and Maqueda.

Field Headquarters
Fascist commanders, who were receiving personal orders from Gen. Francisco Franco, insurgent commander-in-chief, established field headquarters at Otero.

(Government sources in Toledo and Madrid asserted the Socialist lines were being bolstered by reinforcements from the two cities still dominated by the Madrid administration.)

(The major government line of defense was reported to be located at Santa Cruz Del Retamar, eight miles from Maqueda.)

(Several Socialist detachments were dispatched to the Talavera front from Toledo where government bombardment of the Alcazar in whose battered ruins self-imprisoned insurgents fought off repeated attacks.)

(Fifty truckloads of soldiers left Madrid for the southwestern battlefields while 4,000 Catalan troops were ordered back to Barcelona after reported victories.)

Alcazar in Spain.

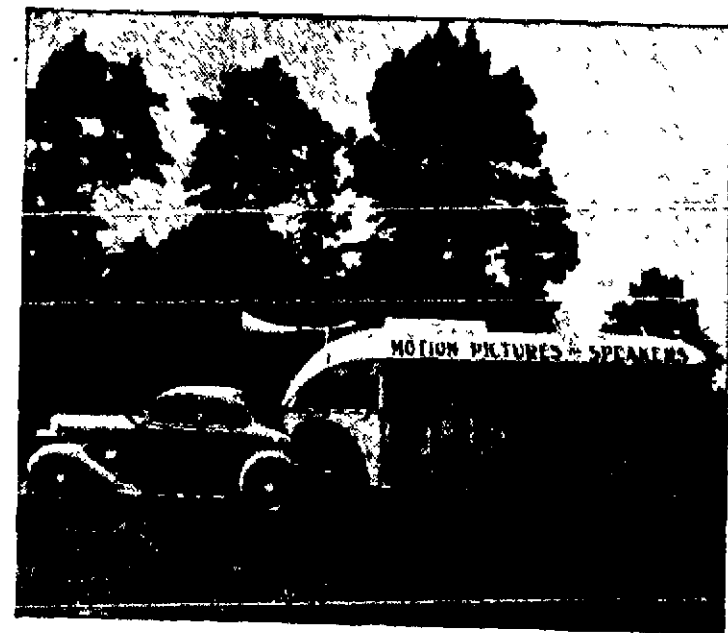

Toledo, Spain, Sept. 22.—Socialist artillerymen, dropping a quickened rate of steel into the beleaguered Alcazar, doggedly fought completely underground today after the last fortress tower crumbled in barrage of shells.

This correspondent watched the relentless attack which caught the beleaguered tower—last of four at the Alcazar—by surprise.

Emblems as Well as Politics Flourish Under Elting Care

A sound platform is necessary as a foundation for any political party and likewise a rich loan is necessary to produce flowers. At least that is the experience which Philip Elting, Ulster county Republican leader, has found to be true in both cases. The success of the Republican party in Ulster county is positive indication of the first requirement and the second is borne out by a thrifty Kansas Sunflower plant which now graces the southern window of Mr. Elting's office.

This sunflower, which was a gift of George J. Mutari of Saugerties, president of the Ulster County Taxpayers Council and Democratic candidate for sheriff of Ulster county last fall, is showing the effects of the expert care which Mr. Elting is giving to the living Landon emblem. Only a week ago the handsome plant was presented to Mr. Elting. At that time it had one large blossom, today under personal care and careful daily watering which Mr. Elting gives it there are two additional blossoms and several very prolific looking buds.

Mr. Elting contends that the prolific growth of the equally prolific growth of the Landon campaign boom which is heading the popular Kansas directly to the doors of the White House in November.

Monday afternoon a visitor called at the office of Mr. Elting and was informed that the Republican leader was busy with an important task. The visitor waited for a moment, bearing a glass of cold water which he was observed to fondly and tenderly pour upon the potted sunflower. His secretary informed the visitor that since the sunflower had been in the office it was being given the utmost personal attention by Mr. Elting.

Visitors at the office will observe that the tall plant as it stands in the window is turning its blooms toward the South as though beckoning the voters below the Mason-Dixon line to enter the folds of the quiet Kansas whose search toward the White House is gaining daily.

One question which arises in the minds of many is whether the prominent County Council president has abandoned the rose as his favorite flower and adopted the sunflower and whether the gift to Mr. Elting came as a token from a Jeffersonian Democrat or a New Deal Democrat to the Republican leader.

"Snapping the Land"

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP).—A warning that Americans are "snapping" the land on which they depend for a living was laid before the "upstream engineering conference" today by Keith Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University. "We have been too long in the wild Indian stage, willing to snap the land and leave it a red herring," he said.

Nation Ponders Report That Adolf May Resign and Retain Simple Title of "The Leader"; Goering is Named.

SECRET ORDERS

German Preparedness in Event of War Polished by Maneuvers, Bolstered by Little Blue Slips.

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Berlin, Sept. 22.—Germany pondered today a widely-circulated report Adolf Hitler may resign as Nazi chancellor and retain the simple title of "Der Fuehrer" (The Leader).

The same report mentioned Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering as Hitler's possible successor.

Persons in authoritative circles refused to comment on the predictions, confining their expressions to an evasive "We have not heard of it."

However, the persistency with which the report has cropped up again and again and the divers and cautious quarters from which it emanates has led some observers to believe there might be an actual basis for the forecast.

Before assuming power, the Reich-chancellor often told his supporters: "I am merely your torch bearer. You must close in behind me and attend to the details."

In addition, Hitler's declarations at the recent Nurnberg convention of the National Socialist party disclosed he has reverted, to an increasing extent, to the role of standard bearer, and prophet of his movement.

Miracle of The Times

"The miracle of our times consists in the fact that you found me among so many millions," he said to his armed forces at the convention, "and Germany's good fortune consists in my having found you."

To the 140,000 political organizers he declared: "You heard the voice of a man, and it struck your hearts. And now the miracle has happened that we are one."

In the opinion of foreign observers in Germany, Goering has shown from the beginning of the Nazi administration, he is no respecter of party rank or seniority claims.

Secret Orders Issued
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)
Berlin, Sept. 22.—Nazi Germany's martial preparedness was polished to glossy perfection on all fronts today.

Autumn maneuvers—the greatest since pre-war days—saw the first large scale demonstrations of the army air force, in cooperation with new artillery units and new tanks.

Paper details for the mobilization of Germany's entire man power, in time of war, were worked out, with many former soldiers carrying in their pockets precise instructions for emergency.

On the motion picture front, patriotic films were driving home to the civilian population the idea that martial virtues are indispensable for the national defense.

The newest of these films, "The Traitor," shown over the nation simultaneously with the army maneuvers in the Fulda sector, emphasized the duty of citizens to maintain alertness against "foreign attempts" to learn Germany's military secrets.

Secret orders have been received by millions of Germans between the ages of 25 and 45 telling them when and where they must report in the event of a war.

Little Blue Sheets.
German citizens carry the little sheets of blue paper, 4 by 5 inches, in their coat pockets. Outwardly they discuss the order enthusiastically, but in private and confidential conversations, their opinions sometimes are reserved.

The orders are titled "Kriegsgeheimnisse" which means simply "order to take part in war."

"This order serves in lieu of a ticket on railways to the point where the addressee must report," is written across the face of the sheet. Then follows the text:

Text of Order.
"As soon as the mobilization order has been given you must report on the day of mobilization by 8 o'clock in the morning (with) at the barracks, without awaiting a new order."

The military papers must be brought along. The regulations on the reverse side of this order must be observed.

"Should a new order be handed you, the 'Kriegsgeheimnisse' becomes null and void and must be destroyed in the presence. As regards what is to be done in the event of your being called to some other defense district, see paragraph 2 on the reverse side."

Five Regulations.
These regulations are set out on the opposite side, beginning with the command to keep the document secret and "in a safe place."

Cites Results of Farm Experiments

Ithaca, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Some of the work being done at the Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station is recounted in a report on experiment stations for 1935, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Concerning potatoes, the report says several close relatives of the cultivated potato that are immune to late blight, obtained from central Mexico through the Department of Agriculture, are being used by the Cornell station for crosses with the common potato. The object is to obtain blight-immune hybrids which may prove of commercial value.

Approximately two-thirds of all the certified seed potatoes now grown in New York have come from the Cornell station's hill-unit selections, and all registered-certified stocks are from this source.

The most important result of studies on green sprouting of seed potatoes was that the average yield of marketable-sized tubers was significantly increased by the process. Previously it was known that green sprouting promoted early emergence and a more early growth both of foliage and tubers.

From extended studies, the station has recommended a combination of soybeans and corn for silage, important to New York state dairymen.

Apple Pruning Tests. Tests with apple trees showed that pruning had no outstandingly important effects on the yield, color, size and freedom from blemishes of apples. Pruning was conceded to be useful in other ways.

Dusting celery with a sulphur and lime mixture was found to give excellent protection against the tarnished plant bug, the major pest of muck-land celery. Information was distributed to the growers on the probable occurrence of serious outbreaks and the best methods and time for applying dusts.

Orchid culture, long under investigation at the Cornell station, was found possible without the presence of natural fungi, hitherto believed necessary for growth. The addition of sugar to the cultural medium promoted strong growth.

In experiments with rats, it was found that animals retarded in growth and not allowed to attain maturity until after 766 and 911 days, could not attain a body size equal to that of animals grown to maturity younger. Both males and females, however, attained extreme ages beyond those of either sex that grow normally.

Fat Content of Milk.

As for increasing the fat content of milk, the station tentatively concluded that for feeding practices a level of four per cent fat in the milk mixture, fed at the rate of one pound for every three, to three and one-half pounds of milk, together with adequate amounts of hay and corn silage, may be considered substantially adequate for butterfat production.

From a study of the Buffalo milk market, the conclusion was reached that since greatly increased sales of milk through stores appear to be predicated upon sharply lowered retail prices, retail stores in upstate cities do not appear to be outlets for milk worthy of extended effort by New York state dairymen.

Butter and other abnormal flavors in milk, cream and butter were found to be due to milk lipase. These defects may be largely eliminated in cream and butter by prompt pasteurization of the cream.

Sunshine Varies.

Considering variation was shown in the effect of sunshine in preventing rickets in chicks. It was shown that the minimum daily exposure to sunshine to prevent rickets in chicks at Ithaca was about 30 minutes in winter, five minutes in spring and two and one-half minutes in summer. Exposures were made behind glass which transmitted nearly all of the ultra-violet rays of sunshine, except those lost by reflection.

In studies of the artificial incubation of eggs of domesticated birds, lowering the temperature from one to one-half degrees centigrade during the latter part of incubation of chickens' eggs gives a greater safety margin in obtaining a good hatch.

Data collected in 235 towns in 15 counties showed a significant decline in tax delinquency in New York, following 16 years of increasing delinquency. Towns in which individual wealth averages less than $1,000 showed the highest percentage of delinquency in all years.

The pronounced influence of a large city on the surrounding rural population is brought out in another study, especially in regard to purchases of goods and services. The city exerts a minimum of influence on church, grocery and physicians' services. The purchase of commodities by mail order does not appear to have appreciably weakened the areas for work clothes and hardware. This type of buying appears to be most used in the areas of small places.

From Father to Son.

Agriculture in New York was found to be carried forward by the same type of population as heretofore, with only a slight geographic shifting. Farming shows a greater tendency to be handed down from father to children than any other major occupation.

Views of young people toward farming were obtained from 307 young men, of whom 14 per cent were farmers' sons and 23 per cent sons of skilled or unskilled laborers. Their interests were mainly social-recreational or educational-conventional with definite need for vocational guidance. There was a distinct urge toward a skilled trade as a life work, but little evidence of a definite plan to enter it.

A majority expressed a preference for rural life and farm work.

Seven state stations, including the one at Cornell, developed an electrical hot-bed heating apparatus which has not only yielded a profit on vegetable growers, but in some instances has been adapted to grow Christmas plants.

PHOENICIA

Phoenicia, Sept. 21.—All who can take week-end guests during the skiing season are asked to meet in the parish hall Wednesday evening, September 23, at 8 o'clock, that all arrangements will be made. The names and number of guests will be tabulated and turned over to the advisory board, who will have the list for the placing of guests. Anyone who can take roomers and are not able to be present at the meeting is asked to send his name and the number of guests he can accommodate so he can be represented on the list.

The Tiskilwa Rebekah Lodge will hold a card party in the I. O. O. F. Hall Thursday evening, October 1, at 8 o'clock. All are invited to attend and help the cause. Prizes and refreshments will be served.

Miss Mary Van Steenberg left Sunday morning for Red Bank, N. J., where she will spend a few days.

A skimmington was given the new-laws, Mr. and Mrs. E. Gormley, upon their return home.

Edna Gross was in Kingston Wednesday having dental work done.

Mrs. Trimmer and son, Irving, have returned to the city after spending the summer with Mrs. Harry Baldwin.

F. Tyler has purchased of H. Clancy the house having the barber shop in. He is taking the partitions out in the downstairs living rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kinsey of Lake Placid came home to attend the ski meeting held Friday evening.

W. Berryann and family were out of town callers Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Alton Phipps and three daughters of Clockville visited her father, H. Boice, Saturday.

F. Simmons has recovered from a bad cold and was able to be the engineer on one of the Sunday specials over the New York Central.

Mrs. A. Woolfeater is still quite ill.

Messrs. George Baldwin and Adrian Loomis attended a Prudential staff meeting Saturday at the Kingston office.

HAD NO CHANGE.

So Loser Pockets $50—Gives Boy 2 Cents.

Olean, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—Joe Lenehan, Olean high school senior, found a billfold containing $50. He returned it to the owner, who handed him two pennies, explaining "I'm sorry I can't make it a nickel, lad, but this is all the change I have." Joe took the pennies, telling the man "this will help when I go to college."

Big Police Radio Network Discussed

Davenport, Iowa, Sept. 22 (AP).—Formation of a widespread network linking 400 police radio stations was described today by an official of the Associated Police Communications Officers as the next probable national offensive in the war against crime.

C. J. Stanley, vice-president and chief communications officer of the Davenport department, said organization of the network would be undertaken at a convention here October 5, 6 and 7, bringing together police radio operators, engineers and executives.

The nucleus of the network—six midwestern stations—is operating experimentally on frequencies allocated September 15 by the Federal Communications Commission. Stanley said, and other police stations may join as soon as they have established facilities.

Fifty-one cities, he added have already applied for net work positions.

The basic network, he said, will include "zone stations," preferably large state-operated police transmitters of high power. These will broadcast in telegraphic code, and, possibly, in a national secret police code.

Each zone station will relay information to all other zone stations, and from these it will reach the interested police departments.

"St. Louis, Indianapolis, Detroit, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Davenport are now a part of the first network authorized to operate experimentally," he said.

It is estimated that the average man drives twenty square miles of road during a life time.

BATES FRUIT SIZER AND CLEANER POPULAR.

In years like this, with the apple crop being damaged to a great extent by the hurricane winds, farmers find the Bates Fruit Sizer and Cleaner and Polisher, a local product, of use in conditioning fruit for greater profits on the market.

Bates machines, made by George W. Bates of Kingston, are made up of a cleaning brush belt and sizing rollers covered with durable polishing material. Fruit passing through the machine gets 200 feet of cleaning and polishing. Dealers in this city, Marlborough, New Paltz, Red Hook and Germantown have them for demonstrations.

Ulster county growers and dealers who recommend the machine are Rosemount, Esopus, Ray A. Elmon, Kingston, Thatcher Farm, Highland, A. H. Cook, Ruby, Walter Clarke, Milton, Clintonville Fruit Growers Cooperative, Inc., Harrison C. Dawes, Marlborough, A. H. Gildersleeve & Son, P. H. DuBois & Sons, New Paltz, L. Herring & Sons, Ulster Park.

The Bates cleaner and sizer is also popular in other sections of the state where fruit farming is carried on.

At Smith To Speak

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith will address a mass meeting at Carnegie Hall on October 1, under the auspices of the Independent Coalition of American Women, which is working to defeat the New Deal. It will be Smith's first speech in the campaign, the coalition office announced today. The former governor is speaking on invitation of Mrs. Edwin T. Meredith of Des Moines, Ia., national chairman of the organization.

Admits Part in $62,000 Holdup

New York, Sept. 22 (AP).—Charles Baker, 34, admitted in police lineup Monday, detectives said, he had participated in a $62,000 bank holdup at Chester, Pa., July 19, 1935.

Baker, who boasted he had been living at 229 West 46th street and attending night clubs while authorities in New York and Philadelphia sought him, was asked whether he had been a member of a holdup gang which held up the Delaware county bank at Chester.

"Sure," he was quoted as replying. "I got $13,000."

He laughed, refusing to say anything further, when he was asked whether he had plotted a $3,000,000 holdup of an armored truck at 18th and Market streets, Philadelphia.

Philadelphia detectives and federal agents told New York police Baker was "in" on the $3,000,000 intended holdup, foiled when police learned of the scheme in advance.

Lucky for You

— It's a Light Smoke!

A smoke that treats you right!

You who go in for sports... and you who don't... you both have reason to treat yourselves well... to reach for a light smoke... a Lucky. For a light smoke is gentle with you. Easy on you when you inhale. Kind to your throat. And since your Lucky... a light smoke... is made from the choicest center-leaf tobacco, it tastes good, too, even when you smoke all day long. So, for a smoke that treats you right it's wise to reach for a Lucky. And remember, the protection of the famous "Toasting" process is enjoyed only by those who smoke Luckies.

"SWEEPSTAKES" FLASH!

Over 1760 tons of paper bought so far!

Since the start of Your Lucky Strike "Sweepstakes" more than 1760 tons of paper have been purchased to print "Sweepstakes" entry cards. Just think of it! That's enough paper to fill about 88 freight cars.

Have you entered yet? Have you won your delicious Lucky Strike? Time in "Your Hit Parade"—Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Listen, judge, and compare the music—then try Your Lucky Strike "Sweepstakes." And if you're not already smoking Luckies, buy a pack today and try them, too. Maybe you've been missing something. You'll appreciate the advantages of Luckies—a Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco.

FRESH AIR—EXERCISE—SUNSHINE

—and a light smoke!

You who like to take care of yourselves, but who love life's pleasures, too—there's a cigarette just made for you. A smoke of fine rich-tasting tobacco—but gentle with you, too. A light smoke. A Lucky!

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO — "IT'S TOASTED"

Waterman Verdict For $316 Monday In Accident Case

Two undetected actions were tried before County Judge Frederick G. Traver Monday afternoon and then the jurors in attendance were excused from further attendance until 2 o'clock on November 9 when criminal work will be taken up. The decision not to ask the jurors to return was made by Judge Traver when he found the attorneys none too anxious to try civil matters. There were one or two doubtful cases which were moved, but as there was no definite promise that they would be tried he put them over until November when any important civil case will have an opportunity to be tried.

The adjournment until November is taken each year at this time in order that the county court may at that time take up criminal trial matters. In September there is the first grand jury of the fall season and the district attorney is engaged before that body. The first of October immediately after the county court is adjourned, the October trial term of Supreme Court opens with a grand jury giving the district attorney no opportunity to try criminal actions until the October term is concluded. In November criminal matters from both the September county court and the October Supreme Court may be disposed of.

County court recessed Monday until Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock without a jury. The grand jury may report at that time.

Frank Sulky who in June was sentenced to 6 months in the county jail appeared before Judge Traver Monday and on application of Assistant District Attorney N. LeVan Haver the court reduced the original sentence so as to expire now. This was done because of Sulky's good behavior in jail and also because a check of his past record showed it to be good. At the time he was sentenced on June 8 he was told an investigation of his past record might mean a shorter sentence.

An action brought by Bertha Waterman of Kingston against Angelo Florino of Kingston was tried before a jury. H. H. Flemming appeared for plaintiff and the defendant made no appearance. The action was one in negligence arising out of a collision on March 28, last, near the corner of Smith avenue and Elmendorf street. Mrs. Waterman's Chevrolet car was damaged to the amount of $299.17 and also asked $17 for glasses which were broken. The jury returned a verdict of $316.17.

The second undetected action was brought by Ellenville Electric Company against Linden Trucking Corporation of Brooklyn. Plaintiff sued to recover $51.58 and interest claiming that a truck of the defendant corporation struck a pole and damaged the electric transmission lines and broke the pole. The accident happened November 16, last on the Leurenkill road. The jury returned a verdict for the sum sued for.

Onteora Burns To Water's Edge, Loss Is $200,000

Peekskill, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—The excursion steamer Onteora burned to the water line at winter mooring below Bear Mountain bridge today and was a total wreck at more than $200,000 loss. Two watchmen on board leaped into the water when the whistle of a sister ship awakened them.

The Onteora, owned by the McAlister Navigation Company of New York, of 1,860 passenger capacity, was taken to winter mooring yesterday from drydock at Newburgh, where it had been overhauled and prepared to lay up.

The captain of the Favorite, moored alongside, smelled smoke at 4:15 and rounded sharp blasts on his whistle until he roused Kenneth Higgs, 30, and Harold Fletcher, 31, both of New York, who were asleep aboard the Onteora. They jumped overboard and swam to the Favorite.

A crew from the sister ship cut the Onteora adrift so the dock would not catch fire and fire departments were summoned from Bear Mountain Inn and Highland Falls. They were unable to attack the blazing ship.

The bulk of the Onteora drifted slowly 1,000 feet out from the west shore of the Hudson river, where it continued to smoulder. Shipping men said the river is very deep at that point and if the wreck sinks as expected it will not impede navigation.

Officials of the Steamship Company questioned Higgs and Fletcher in an effort to discover the cause of the fire. They said the boat could not be replaced under $200,000.

Hi-Y Conference At Y.M.C.A. Camp

During the past week-end over 60 delegates from Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Middletown, Saugerties, Kingston and villages in Orange county attended the Hi-Y officers conference held at the Kingston Y. M. C. A. Camp at Glenier Lake. Similar conferences have been held for a number of years but this year's surpassed any of the previous ones in attendance.

The program dealt with the various phases of Hi-Y and many of the sessions were technical in character, dealing with proper methods of keeping records, making reports, conducting meetings, etc. Some sessions dealt with program and philosophy of Hi-Y and the delegates present got a clearer picture of the "real value and possibilities of a Hi-Y Club."

Program leaders present were: W. H. Burger, state boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Richard Mills, boys' work secretary of Elizabeth, N. J.; and former adviser of the Metropolitan Hi-Y Council; Charles R. Scott of Newark, N. J., director of the Larry Foster Foundation; and the boys' work secretaries of this area: Paul Sorg of Middletown, E. V. Robbins of Newburgh, W. H. Baumgarten of Orange county and N. H. Fuller of Kingston.

Features of the conference, in addition to the working sessions, were the Friday Night's Campfire where Mr. Mills gave a description of the Olympics and told his experiences with German youth; the induction service conducted by the Kingston Hi-Y Club Saturday evening and also the friendship campaign where the president of each Hi-Y Club represented threw a fact on the fire and pledged the friendship in his club to the Hi-Y Clubs throughout the world. Mr. Burger and Mr. Baumgarten then lighted their torches which they had brought from the National Hi-Y Congress at Berea, Ky., and in turn lighted the torches of all the delegates present.

Perhaps the most impressive part of the conference were the devotion services conducted by Charles Scott. The first of these dealt with Fellowship; the second with Worship and the third with Leadership. Mr. Scott has been a world-wide traveler and drew heavily upon his experiences to illustrate his address. The delegates were made to feel a comradeship with the youth of other lands as the speaker narrated accounts of their customs and friendship to him. Mr. Scott was assisted in the final service Sunday morning by some of the Young people present who read selections from "Larry," the book which has had a tremendous influence upon thousands of young people.

Kingston delegates attending the conference were: The Misses MacCracken, Winfield, Eymann, Halstein and Haines of the Girls' Hi-Y Club and Messrs. Richter, Salzman, O'Hara, Heaney, Pfeiffer of the Boys' Hi-Y, and Miss Florence Baitz, Miss Ethel Hull, Chester Baitz Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Fuller, adult advisers.

Stang Addresses Kingston Lions

The Kingston Lions Club met at the Governor Clinton last night for their regular weekly dinner. Gordon A. Craig, the newly elected president, presided at the meeting and congratulated the club on its interest displayed in the program for the fall and winter months. After the luncheon, Frederick Stang, a prominent attorney from Walden, addressed the club in the absence of the Hon. J. Edward Conway, who was unable to be present.

Mr. Stang took as his subject, "How Laws Are Made." He traced a law from its inception as a resolution in a private organization, such as the Lions Club, to the senator and assemblyman, thence to each branch of the legislature, through the committees and various so-called red tape—which in many cases is necessary until the bill finally either became a law or was defeated through the governor's signature or veto or lack of both.

He discussed the last minute legislation that is so easily ignored or even cleverly passed in the last 10 days of legislative sessions. He stressed the fact that all civic organizations should demand proper qualifications in their representatives and should also display their interest in legislation by presenting their views to their representatives. Mr. Stang's address was exceedingly interesting and enlightening.

Secretary Eugene A. Totzlat presented his portion of the educational committee program with a three-minute talk on Lionism entitled, "Boost and Build." He said that America means opportunity and its letters when interpreted, mean all that Lionism stands for—A. for ambition; M. for manhood; E. for education; R. for religion; I. for ideal; C. for courage, and finally A. achievement.

After the regular meeting a directors' meeting was held and a definite program and civic projects were planned for the coming season.

President Honors Mother
Hide Park, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP).—The eighty-second birthday of Mrs. Sara Delano Roosevelt, mother of the President, was celebrated at a family dinner at the Roosevelt home here last night. The President devoted the evening to honoring his mother. His wife, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, was unable to be present because of an attack of influenza which has confined her to her room in the White House at Washington.

Card of Thanks
We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness during the illness and at the time of the death of our mother, Carrie Strub.

Joseph A. Bradley Gave His Blood to Mrs. Sylvia Marcus

Mrs. Sylvia Marcus, 63 Hasbrouck avenue, was given a blood transfusion at the Benedictine Hospital Monday afternoon to temporarily strengthen her until a blood donor can be found who has recovered from streptococcus veridans.

Joseph A. Bradley, former tugboat engineer, of 425 Hasbrouck avenue, gave the blood yesterday. Dr. Mortimer B. Downer and Dr. William S. Bush, in attendance, hoped it would build her up physically until such time as a donor with the right kind of blood can be found.

The two physicians and her husband, Samuel Marcus, are combating the country through the press and by other means in an effort to find someone who has successfully fought the dreaded disease and is willing to give a transfusion. Blood from such a donor is necessary in order that Mrs. Marcus might overcome the affliction with which she was stricken more than two months ago.

Mrs. Marcus was seized by the attack while in Kansas City where her husband was studying medicine at the University of Kansas. With them was their son, Allan, aged three years.

The Marcuses returned to Kingston, and after it was learned that a blood transfusion would be necessary for the 27-year-old mother to recover, the hunt for a donor started. To date the call has reached every section of the United States, but none has been found.

Hundreds of generous people telegraphed, phoned, wrote letters and communicated in various ways with Mr. Marcus and physicians offering blood. "Phone and telegraph charges have mounted to approximately $100, it was said by a friend of the Marcus family.

Transfusion Didn't Help
Chicago, Sept. 22 (AP).—Maurice Oldham, Kentucky schoolboy Samaritan who traveled to Chicago recently in an effort to save the life of Philip Levitt, 7, made his trip in vain, Philip's father said today.

Philip is a victim of streptococcus veridans, a dreaded and often fatal infection of the blood stream. Maurice, 13, the son of a Lexington, Ky., police commissioner, once suffered from the same disease. Physicians hoped a transfusion of blood from Maurice might help Philip.

Maurice came and gave blood twice to Philip. Today, Philip's father, Morris Levitt, said his ailing son was "no better."

"We are not getting the results we expected," he said. "It was the wrong blood. Of course, the whole thing was an experiment. It is very discouraging."

Dr. Paul Sahllins, attending physician, would only say "about the same" when asked about Philip's condition.

Dr. Sahllins said, however, that more transfusions would be given Philip by another donor, also a recovered victim of the disease. He declined to name the donor or say when the transfusion would be made.

Huge Police Dog Shot After Biting Woman at Glenford
Hilda Wichelancki, who lives on the Maverick road, at Glenford, was severely bitten in the left wrist and hand by a large police dog Sunday evening. She was taken to the office of Dr. J. Hans Cohn at Shokan, where her injuries were treated.

Further treatment will depend upon the report from an examination of the dog's head, which has been sent to Albany by Dr. Philip P. Foley, in order to determine whether the animal was suffering from rabies. A young lad, said to be Mrs. Michelancki's son, was also scratched up by the dog, but his injuries are not considered serious. According to the report Mrs. Wichelancki was bitten when she went to the assistance of the boy.

Deputy Sheriff Ray Winne of Stony Hollow was notified of the affair and asked to investigate. He drove up to the Wichelancki place, armed with a variety of weapons, including a rifle and shotgun. As he entered the yard he says the huge dog came bounding toward him and tried to get at him while he was still in the car, then turned and apparently started to attack the boy, who had come out of the house. In order to save the boy the deputy fired a charge from the shotgun, it being too dark to use a rifle and the dog fell. The animal got up however and ran into a nearby building, but left that and went into the woods.

Tried Other Entrances
Later came reports that the animal had tried to get into other places nearby and Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg and McCullough joined Winne in an attempt to locate the dog. Although they searched till 1 o'clock in the morning they were unable to find further trace of him.

Monday morning Mrs. Wichelancki came out of the house, when the dog, which evidently had been nearby, entered the house and lay down on a davenport. The officers again were summoned and accompanied by Sheriff Molyneux went to the scene, the dog having been locked in and left alone. When he saw the strangers the dog snarled and showed his fangs in a menacing manner. He finally made his way from the living room in which he had first taken refuge into a smaller room and there his behavior was banished by several well directed shots from the officers' heavy service pistols. Later Deputy Winne removed the animal's head and brought it to Dr. Foley for transmission to Albany.

The dog, an unusually large animal, is said to have bitten people previously to the attack on Mrs. Wichelancki Sunday evening.

Reds Making Effort To Stop Rebels

Fort Ewen, Sept. 22.—The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a clam chowder sale in the churchhouse at 11 o'clock Friday morning. Orders for chowder may be telephoned to Mrs. Vinal LeFever or to Mrs. Sarah Clark.

Mrs. John Lynn and Mrs. Clara Merwin were Sunday guests of relatives in Hensonsville.

The consistory of the Reformed Church will hold a card party in the church hall Tuesday evening, September 29. The public is cordially invited. Refreshments will be served. Lucinda Rebekah Lodge, No. 283, will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening in the Ulster Park lodge rooms. As election of officers will be held, all members are urged to be present.

Once again the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will hold a "get together" social, the occasion being the turning in of the turkey coin cards, on Thursday evening, September 24 at 8 o'clock in the churchhouse. All members of the church and congregation are invited. There will be games and refreshments for which no charge will be made. A good time is assured all who attend.

The Epworth League will hold a business meeting and social in the churchhouse at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Young people, who are not members of the league, are especially invited to come that they may learn what the fellowship and the work of the league are.

M. E. E. Velma Clearwater, of Hope Temple, No. 80, Pythian Sisters, requests the officers to wear white at the regular meeting, Wednesday evening.

Miss Leta McKean, a member of the Kingston Hospital Training School, spent Sunday at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Jump. Miss McKean rendered a beautiful trumpet solo at the morning service in the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Martin J. Munnely, tax collector of School District No. 15, has received the tax roll and is now collecting taxes at his home on Main street for a period of 30 days at one per cent, after which five per cent will be charged.

Mrs. Frances Dinno, of Garfield, N. J., is spending several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Coniglio of Broadway.

The public is invited to patronize the food sale which the P-T Association will hold in Spinnenweber's lunch room Saturday afternoon. Mrs. John G. Reynolds is chairman of the food sale.

A church rally supper will be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church house at 6:30 Friday evening. The supper will be a "planned pot-luck" with no admission charge. The penny jars are to be brought in at this time. District Superintendent, the Rev. Joseph W. Chaney will give an informal talk on "Methods of Catching Fish." There will be special music and an informal conference concerning plans for the coming church year. Let everyone come and make this a really worthwhile occasion.

Miss Rose Dinno, of Garfield, N. J., was the week-end guest of her friend, Miss Ida Coniglio.

Reds Making Effort To Stop Rebels

corners of the historic Alcazar—squarely in the middle and sent it crashing down.

From the roof of the residence of the Toledo chief of police, I saw shots from two six-inch guns plow into the massive stone structure from the north and east.

With deafening blasts the shots tore apart the masonry. A cloud of thick, black smoke enveloped the tower as little groups of insurgents, perched precariously on the wall segments which stood alone after days of bombardment, scrambled down in a rain of rocks.

They disappeared into the subterranean caverns beneath the battered bulk of what formerly was the royal residence of the Spanish rulers. A new artillery assault began almost as soon as the noise and smoke died away.

For the first time in nearly 24 hours, the bark of Fascist machine guns from improvised positions inside the ruins was silenced.

Surrounding the fortress, a line of government militiamen waited for the order which would send them charging into the battered edifice for a "final assault," once planned but later postponed.

But Maj. Emilio Torres, commander of the government attackers, delayed the advance after General Jose Asensio, supreme military leader of all Socialist forces in central Spain, left Toledo hurriedly for the Talavera battle sector.

"Everything is fine," Torres asserted curtly in response to questions on the progress of the assault. He declined to predict when the order to advance would be given.

"Italian Dictatorship"
BY RAMON BLARDONEY
(Copyright, 1936, By Associated Press)

Madrid, Sept. 22.—An "Italian dictatorship" has been established on the Spanish island of Mallorca, the newspaper La Vox charged today, after the arrival of 11 seaplanes commanded by the Italian Lieutenant Rosini.

"Mallorca has actually been made an Italian colony," the newspaper asserted.

Shortly after the arrival of government troops from Barcelona, the paper declared, insular officials made a hurried departure. Then followed an exchange of messages between the island authorities, Gen. Francisco Franco, commander-in-chief of the Fascist insurgents, and Juan March, Spanish millionaire whom the government has charged with financing the rebellion against the Madrid government, La Vox said.

General Franco at once communicated with Italian officials (the paper did not say whom or of what importance) and 12 hours later the first Italian seaplane arrived at Palma, the island's principal city, the newspaper added.

The civil governor, La Vox continued, was removed because he was opposed to the presence of the Italians. Antonio Osorio, the new governor, is directed in his official duties by "numberless" Italians who have been landing on the island "as if it were a real occupation," the newspaper said.

La Vox alleged Lieutenant Rosini is "one of the prominent bosses among the invaders" and declared "he goes around town urging that all people affiliated with leftist parties be killed."

"They obey him," the newspaper declared. "He is the real dictator of the island."

Four Cases Before Judge Culloton

John C. Reed of 636 Broadway was arrested at 1:30 o'clock this morning on a charge of failing to observe the red traffic light at Hasbrouck avenue and East Chester street. The hearing was set down for September 29.

Earl Dean of Woodstock was arrested last evening for public intoxication on Delaware avenue. This morning he was fined $5 when arraigned before Judge Culloton in police court.

Louis Petramelo of the Hotel Eichler was fined $5 for disorderly conduct on Cornell street last night. Adam Taubenberger, 72, of 145 Spring street, arrested last evening by his daughter, who charged her father with disorderly conduct, had his case held open.

COMFORTER HALL PARTY WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 23

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Comforter will sponsor a pinocle and domino party in the church hall on Wynkoop Place on Wednesday evening, September 23, at 8 o'clock. Refreshments will be served and proceeds will be used for the support of the church. The general public is cordially invited.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Philip Chase and children of Poughkeepsie were numbered among the many callers in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday.

Mrs. Oscar Ganter and son, Emmett of the old state road are spending a week with relatives in Mt. Vernon.

Elder Arnold H. Bellows, pastor of the Olive and Hurley Baptist Church, is driving one of the new model Lafayette sedans.

Justus North, local building contractor, has begun work on the erection of a dwelling house for Chester Lyons of Ashokan on the latter's state road lot adjoining the Shokan Reformed Church property.

The high wind of Friday at no time reached gale proportions here, and but little damage was reported as a result of the storm.

The Shokan Home Bureau will hold its rally day meeting Tuesday afternoon, September 22, at the home of Miss Radie McCauley in Ashokan.

Leaving for New York this week are Mrs. Robert B. Peck and son, Robert Jr., who have spent the summer at their place near Tice Ten Eyck Mountain. Young Peck, one of the most popular members of the summer resident colony here, will resume his studies at the Trinity School for Boys.

The Ashokan reservoir, though apparently at a very low stage, still contains 85 billion gallons of water as against a total available capacity of 122 billion gallons. A casual observer might suppose that the two basins were not more than half full, but the fact remains that there are a number of very deep channels and holes in the floor of the reservoir whose storage capacity more than offsets the withdrawal from the shallows immediately adjoining the 40 miles of shore line. The water in both east and west basins now stands at approximately the 571-foot elevation, or a drop of 16 and 19 feet, respectively, from the normal flow line.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert D'lier of Flushing, L. I., spent the week-end with Mrs. Didier's mother, Mrs. Anner Longyear.

John Fitzgerald of Brown Station is taking a course at Spencer's business school in Kingston.

September 21, 1936, the funeral took place of Mrs. Charles H. Weldner. Services were held at the family residence near the Bushkill stream.

Mrs. Weldner was a faithful communicant of the Shokan Reformed Church. She was the mother of Mrs. Hattie Krom of Kingston and Fred Weldner of Olive.

Burton Cudney, a former Ashokan boy now residing at Pine Hill, spent the week-end with his cousins, John and Robert Adsit.

The late flower blooms throughout Shokan and Ashokan villages are perhaps more beautiful and profuse than during any preceding autumn. There is scarcely a residence along the main street which has not at least one flower bed while a number of ladies maintain several of them. The old fashioned varieties predominate these being frequently seen in mixed beds tending to enhance their plot of color. The dahlias, with several women, have proved disappointing of recent years and a few have discontinued planting them on account of a failure to bloom satisfactorily. Geraniums, many of them of immense size, make up the greater part of the display of Postmaster Julia Winchell, who for more than half a century has been one of the leaders in flower culture here.

Franklin S. Towne, who died Thursday at his home in Kingston, was well known to many of the older residents of this section where he was a frequent visitor in his younger days. Mrs. Towne is a daughter of Mrs. Charlotte Markle whose old home along the Plank Road is now on reservoir property.

Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, one of Kingston's oldest citizens, attended the Baptist two days meeting here last week and also the services in the Olive and Hurley meeting house Sunday.

Billy Osterhoudt is getting along well, following an appendectomy at a Kingston hospital Wednesday. The boy's sister, Miss Gertrude Osterhoudt, fortunately was able to get in touch with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Osterhoudt, who were away on a vacation trip to Canada. Miss Alberta Gordon, a neighbor of the Osterhoudts at Brown's, also is getting along all right, after having an operation for appendicitis last week.

Louis Theil, genial state road farmer and poultryman, has about 300 brown leghorn pullets, many of which have begun to lay. This is the only large flock of its kind in the north shore section. Included among the other fowls at the Theil place are 100 spring ducks and these have grown so rapidly that they look like yearlings. Mr. Theil proposes to sell off his drakes this fall and add the layers to his older ducks as he has built up a flourishing trade in duck eggs.

Official Tabulation of Vote Cast on Primary Day

The official tabulation of the vote cast on primary day has been completed by the Ulster County Board of Elections. The canvass shows a moderately heavy vote throughout the county and discloses the fact that while Chris J. Flanagan was endorsed for the office of District Attorney by the Socialist party and Frederick G. Traver was given the Socialist vote for county judge, that Lester D. DuBois, Republican candidate for coroner, received the Democratic endorsement for the office of coroner.

While Judge Traver received the endorsement of the Socialist party for county judge he will not appear on their ticket as a candidate since he filed his declaration of the nomination today.

There were a total of 36 votes cast by enrolled Democrats in the race for coroner. At the unofficial convention the Democrats named Joseph McAuliffe but he later declined the nomination, causing a vacancy on the primary ticket. There were 23 different names written in on the Democratic ballots and Lester D. DuBois of New Paltz, the regularly named Republican candidate, received 4 votes and thereby won the Democratic nomination over Joseph McAuliffe who polled but three votes on primary day. The other names received two or less votes through voters writing in the name.

The result of the official canvass is as follows:

Republican Party Vote

There will be submitted to the voters this fall at the annual election one proposition and one question to be voted upon.

The form of submission of Proposition No. 1 is:

Shall chapter five hundred and fifty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred thirty-six, entitled "An act authorizing the creation of a state debt, to the amount of thirty million dollars, to provide funds, to be available from November fifteenth, nineteen hundred thirty-six to February fifteenth, nineteen hundred thirty-eight, to relieve the people of the state from the hardships and suffering caused by unemployment, and the effects thereof on the public health and welfare, including the granting of aid to municipalities for such purpose through such agencies and by such ways and means as the legislature shall have prescribed or hereafter may prescribe for the administration and distribution of unemployment relief and the cost thereof, and providing for the submission of the people of a proposition or question therefor to be voted upon at the general election to be held in the year nineteen hundred thirty-six" be approved?

The form of submission of Question No. 1 is:

Shall there be a convention to revise the Constitution and amend the same?

Realtors Take Steps To Head Off Boom

Bolton Landing, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—A statewide committee of real estate men took steps here today to head off a repetition of the real estate boom of the 20's.

Ray Hafford, of Albany, executive vice president of Real Estate Association of the State of New York, said a resolution prepared for presentation to the association convention now in session here, proposes that: "Brokers belonging to real estate boards pledge themselves not to market houses built by so-called 'jerry builders'."

Not to market real estate where prices obviously far exceed the true worth of the property.

Not to attempt sales to buyers whose incomes do not warrant the investments.

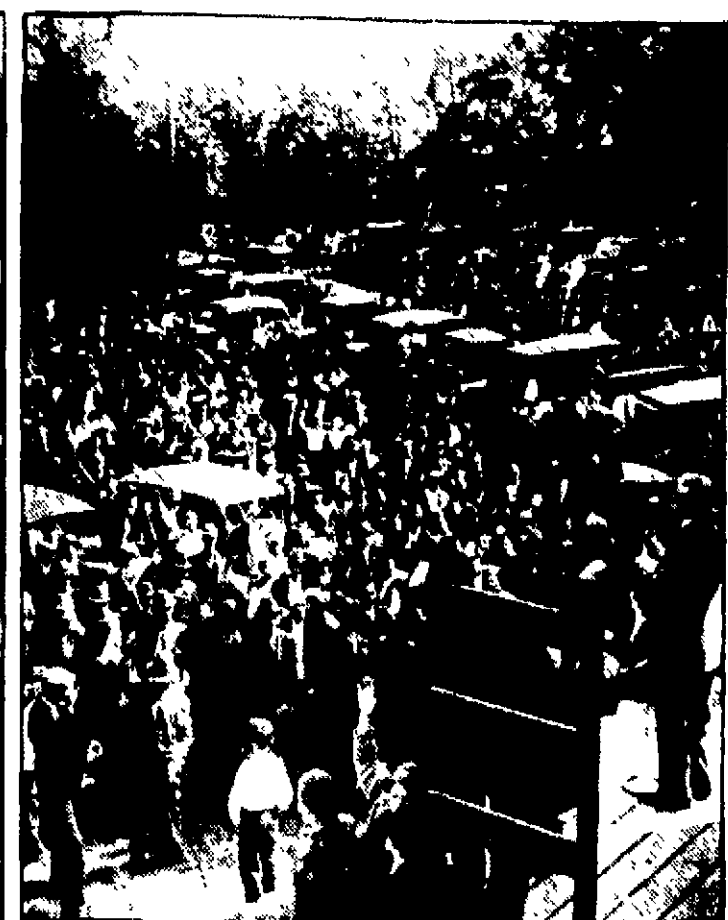

Not to aid developments and subdivisions whose locations, improvements and general specifications can not be approved by the real estate board of the particular city.

Hafford said the tentative resolution provides that such developments and subdivisions fit in with a general community plan and meet such standards as the board thinks best for the benefit of its community as a whole.

Hafford said the resolution also urges the public not to make purchases of real estate without the advice of reputable and experienced brokers.

"Those who are sponsoring the resolution," he added, "are frankly afraid of another boom which they feel hurts everybody in the long run."

Governor Landon Can Be Elected by Carrying 17 States

By a Freeman Staff Reporter

Alt Landon can win the presidency of the United States in the approaching presidential election by carrying 17 states, six of which voted for Hoover in 1932, and the remainder giving Roosevelt majorities of less than 60 per cent. Indications are becoming more clearly apparent that the flamboyant Mr. Farley has made a mistake in assuming that the election of his candidate is a pushover; because Mr. Landon by capturing those 17 states will garner for himself 265 electoral votes, just enough to assure his election. There are 531 electoral votes.

In 1932 Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Pennsylvania returned majorities for Hoover. In the same year Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, Ohio and West Virginia all voted for Roosevelt by majorities of less than 60 per cent.

Disregarding the totals and percentages of minor candidates in the 1932 elections, the figures on the two major candidates by popular vote and percentage show: Connecticut, 281,632 Roosevelt or 47.4 per cent and 288,420 Hoover, or 48.6 per cent; Delaware, 54,319 Roosevelt or 48.1 per cent and 57,073 Hoover or 50.6 per cent; Maine, 128,907 Roosevelt or 43.2 per cent and 166,631 Hoover or 55.9 per cent; New Hampshire, 100,680 Roosevelt or 49.1 per cent and 103,629 Hoover or 50.3 per cent; Vermont, 56,266 Roosevelt or 41.1 per cent and 78,984 Hoover or 57.7 per cent; Pennsylvania, 1,295,948 Roosevelt or 45.4 per cent and 1,453,540 Hoover or 50.8 per cent; Illinois, 1,882,304 Roosevelt or 55.2 per cent and 1,432,756 Hoover or 42 per cent; Indiana, 862,054 Roosevelt or 54.7 per cent and 677,184 Hoover or 42.9 per cent; Iowa, 598,019 Roosevelt or 57.7 per cent and 414,433 Hoover or 40 per cent; Kansas, 424,204 Roosevelt or 53.6 per cent and 349,498 Hoover or 44.1 per cent; Kentucky, 580,574 Roosevelt or 53.1 per cent and 594,716 Hoover or 40.1 per cent; Massachusetts, 800,148 Roosevelt or 50.7 per cent and 736,359 Hoover or 46.6 per cent; Michigan, 871,700 Roosevelt or 52.4 per cent and 739,894 Hoover or 44.5 per cent; New Jersey, 806,630 Roosevelt or 49.5 per cent and 775,684 Hoover or 47.6 per cent; New York, 2,534,353 Roosevelt or 54.1 per cent and 1,927,963 Hoover or 41.3 per cent; West Virginia, 405,124 Roosevelt or 54.5 per cent and 330,731 Hoover or 44.5 per cent.

It must be admitted that in 1934 in congressional and state elections Mr. Roosevelt increased his New Deal showing greatly but that argument may be offset by the fact that with the New Deal just setting under the President in an effort to give him all possible aid in carrying out his program.

However the swing now seems to be definitely in the opposite direction, the Republicans having crystallized their program into a definite attack on the presidential policies which is ending increasing favor as the election approaches. This swing may well decide the election in the above mentioned states. Take for instance the case of New Jersey in which neither candidate had a definite majority. Roosevelt being elected by a rather close plurality. Not much of a swing either way will place that state in the camp of either party.

Another interesting set of figures occurs in the 1932 election in Ohio where Roosevelt garnered 1,591,635 votes or 49.3 per cent and Hoover, 1,227,673 or 41.2 per cent. This state, which was not included in the above list, might well be in either column in the fall election, neither side having developed a definite majority in the previous presidential vote. California, another state not previously mentioned, which went for Roosevelt definitely in the last presidential vote is not a certainty for either party yet. The Townsend movement will feel its effects there and Republican leaders say that vigorous campaigning will make it Republican.

It is true that statisticians have no definite relations to the beliefs of voters and may be quoted in favor either side of a question and prove it if necessary, yet the above figures do indicate that the election this year is far from the certainty that Mr. Farley painted it and that a Landon victory is as much of a probability as the retention of the President.

Heads Republican Service League

Winthrop Robinson of Delmar,

long active in veteran affairs in this section of the state, has been appointed chairman of the Republican Service League for the Third Judicial District, embracing the counties of Albany, Columbia, Greene, Rensselaer, Schoharie, Sullivan and Ulster.

The appointment was announced by Edward J. Neary, state chairman of the league, composed of veterans enlisted in the Republican cause, from headquarters at 41 East 42nd street, New York city.

Enthusiasm of veterans and activities of the league are due largely to the fact that Governor Landon, Republican candidate for president, and Colonel Frank Knox, Republican candidate for vice president, are ex-service men.

Russians May Soon Own Homes But Must Wait Awhile For Cars

By JOHN LLOYD

(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Moscow (AP)—Soviet Union citizens may own their own homes when their new constitution goes into effect, since provision for protection of private property is one of its most important features.

Only the "essential" part of housing in cities and industrial centers is still listed as irrevocable property of the state. Personal ownership of homes and objects of domestic use is to be protected by law.

People cannot buy autos for awhile as they are not yet on public sale, but they can purchase radios, silk dresses, electrical kitchen gadgets, fur coats and such things. The big investment—home building—is to be promoted on a large scale.

Citizens who have money may "buy into" cooperative apartment houses on a cash basis or by the installment plan.

O.K.'s Building

To really understand the importance of these commitments it is necessary to go back to the time when private property was nationalized, that is, taken over by the state.

True, private ownership of some small houses was still permitted and later private building of small individual homes was encouraged. But always there was the question, "Am

I safe in the ownership of this property, or is it too, sooner or later, to be taken over?"

The new constitution answers the question. In effect, it says, "Go ahead with your building. Your home will remain yours."

Not All "Poor"

Immediately after publication of this promise an official announcement was made that increased government aid would be granted to the Soviet Housing corporation, which finances erection of co-operative apartment buildings.

Vice-Premier Vlas Chubar added a prediction that there would be at once a large increase in home-building.

The citizens, it must be explained, are not all "poor," or more precisely, not all limited to incomes of only two or three hundred rubles a month. There is, just as in any other country, a "middle" strata, not to use the hated word class, which earns double or triple that amount.

Then there is, speaking in "capitalistic" terms, the "wealthier" class, including many of the actors and writers, whose incomes go well into the thousands per month.

Extends To Farmers

As a result there are "savers." According to official figures savings accounts in the Soviet Union contain a total of 2,960,000,000 rubles and over 400,000 workers have accounts of over 500 rubles, many of course

FOR INSPECTION ONLY

Many are the privileges promised Russians in their new constitution, but until cars go on public sale they'll have to be content merely to stand and admire them.

mounting far above that.

The "essential" part of housing which is to remain the property of the state is not further defined in the constitution. It is expected, however, to include practically all of the buildings already administered by the government.

Provisions for protection of private property extend to the country as well as the cities. Members of collective farms are permitted to have their own homes and their own small plots of ground, with enough domestic animals and farming implements to maintain a family.

Private ownership and operation of industry will be permitted only in cases of co-operatives or small enterprises where the owner does all the work. Employment by private owners is termed exploitation of labor and is prohibited by law.

①—THAT SPECIAL HEATING FOR THE KITCHEN IS INCLUDED IN MANY MODERN GAS RANGES

②—THAT THE BETTER-SIGHT LAMP PROVIDES GOOD READING LIGHT FOR MORE THAN 2 HOURS FOR THE PRICE OF ONE CIGARETTE.

③—THAT A GAS AUTOMATIC WATER HEATER MAY IMPROVE THE HEATING OF YOUR HOME

EXPLANATIONS:

1. For kitchens that are not connected with the central heating plant, it is no longer necessary to put up with a cumbersome combination range. All gas ranges with built-in heaters for the room, will do a better heating job at little or no greater cost than maintaining a fire in a combination range.

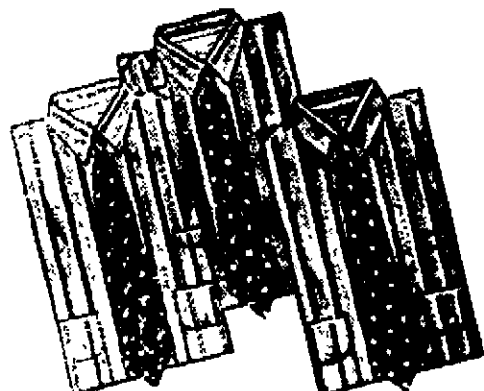

2. The famous Better-Sight Lamp uses a 100-watt bulb, which will burn for more than two hours for 3/4c. With cigarettes at 15c for a pack of 20, one cigarette will cost 3/4c. Good reading light costs little, but it means much in saving eye-sight.

3. If domestic hot water is obtained by a furnace coil during the heating season, tests show that this coil will draw off at least as much heat as one radiator. On an average, one shovelful of coal in every five will go to heat the faucet water. If the furnace is relieved of this load, its heating capacity is increased about 20%.

POLITICS at Random

By BYRON PRICE
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press,
Washington

It is not unusual for a national campaign to work strange transformations, yet it would be difficult to recall another such out-of-character alignment as that which has governed the roles of the two principal candidates for President during recent weeks.

On the one hand we have had President Roosevelt, born with a love for the hustings and skilled in the school of hard campaigning, letting the summer months drift by without a move toward coming openly to the stump, and speaking only indirectly about the election.

On the opposite side has been Governor Landon qualified for spellbinding neither by native inclination nor experience, a man who won a Presidential nomination largely by sitting tight on his job as governor, swirling from state to state and making rear platform speeches by the score.

Although he now has agreed to a few late September speeches, Mr. Roosevelt will travel "non-politically," says the White House, and an October transcontinental trip which had been projected for him may be curtailed or abandoned. Simultaneously, Mr. Landon greatly enlarges his itinerary, adding a sudden swing into Maine and the east to an already crowded schedule.

F. D. R. Follows President
IN THE case of Mr. Roosevelt, the reversal of form is especially notable because he is following Presidential precedent.

On many past occasions he has picked himself on his disregard of tradition, particularly the tradition of Presidential aloofness. Politically, he has looked upon himself as a realist, unfettered by the forms and pretensions which have surrounded so many of his predecessors.

Now he follows the course of custom by speaking almost as though he were unaware that a Presidential campaign was in progress.

It is true he has embellished the precedent somewhat, adding a flourish which many other presidents have lacked. He has accomplished an oblique approach to political subjects, stipulating that he is not speaking or acting from political motives in cases where the actual political effect has been clear to everyone.

At the celebrated tax conference he made no public statement at all, others announced no tax increases were impending. He left it to the insurance executives to say from the White House steps that their companies were sounder than ever. Without a shadow of politics, his advisers are giving out almost daily hints that the foreign situation makes 1936 a bad time to change horses.

No G.O.P. Change Seen
ON THE Republican side there is no prospect that tactics will change. Mr. Landon now is thoroughly committed to the road; the front porch campaign advocated by some of his friends no longer is a possibility, even if it were deemed advisable. A change at this stage would be interpreted widely as a retreat.

Regarding Mr. Roosevelt, opinions differ. That he will make some purely political speeches, and himself label them as such, seems certain. There are those who think it will not be long until he answers unservedly the call to which he has responded so often before, and abandons the oblique approach for the direct.

What? The wisdom of campaign strategy by Presidential nomination? The record supports only in part the old belief that they almost always do more harm than good, and besides every campaign year has its own set of circumstances. The election returns will tell.

Syracuse to Take Place in National Spotlight Next Week

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—

Syracuse is prepared to assume a place in the national political spotlight next week when some 2,000 delegates to the Democratic State Convention will nominate Governor Lehman for a third term and President Roosevelt will shatter precedent by appearing as the principal speaker of the two-day sessions.

The convention will open Monday. The president will address the delegates on Tuesday, and will bring to a climax the "We Want Lehman" drive begun by Democrats at the National Convention at Philadelphia.

Decision by the governor to seek a third term was reached after considerable pressure was brought to bear by national leaders who felt his strength in the state to be a decided asset for the national ticket.

Upstate Democratic leaders looked to the visit of the President as certain to bring added hundreds to the city, in addition to those delegates, alternates and spectators attending the convention proper.

William H. Kelley, Onondaga leader, said the address of President Roosevelt "will give the state ticket a marvelous sendoff."

Kelley said the main sessions of the convention would be held in the state armory, a huge old-fashioned building with barred windows and a high ceiling. It stands on the edge of the business district.

Plans to hold the final meeting in Syracuse University football stadium were abandoned, he said, because of the danger of rainy weather.

Kelley said that 2,000 delegates and alternates in addition to "probably a thousand" spectators would be on hand for the convention.

The city's main hotels have been reserved for weeks.

Tammany's huge delegation has made enough reservations to virtually take over one of the two largest hotels (the Onondaga).

Kelley said tentative plans called for one banquet sometime during the convention but that the definite date or final arrangements had not been completed.

"Otherwise," he said, "it will be a short and snappy convention."

Other tentative plans call for the regular opening address by State and National Chairman James A. Farley on Monday, followed by the keynote speech by Senator Robert F. Wagner, temporary chairman.

Election of a chairman and the business of the convention proper will probably follow on the final day, Kelley said.

Speculation here has concerned the nominee for lieutenant governor, the post now held by M. William Bray, of Utica, and the make-up of the party's state platform.

A party spokesman who did not want his name used said last week in New York city, however, that Bray would be renominated.

Dear Sir:
It is not my intention to be drawn into any personal controversy over repudiation of endorsements by the Socialist party.

My letter was only stating the fundamentals of our state constitution in that it expressly forbids Socialist endorsement of anyone who is not a member of their party.

I did not and do not discuss this matter as a personal issue—I speak for the party as the secretary for the Kingston local and consider it my duty to inform Socialists that the party does not approve of endorsing candidates other than Socialists. We refuse to become the political football of either party.

I trust you will accord this letter the same prominence given to the previous correspondence.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick H. Allen To Support Landon

Because of his belief that the policies of President Roosevelt, long his friend, "would seriously alter our form of government," Frederick H. Allen, noted lawyer and nationally known Democrat, has notified James W. Gerard, honorary chairman of the finance division of the Democratic national committee, that he could not in conscience contribute to the Roosevelt campaign fund and would support Governor Landon in the present election.

Mr. Allen's repudiation of the Democratic party's presidential candidate was made known Monday by F. Tribes Davidson, chairman of the naturalized citizens' division of the Republican state committee.

Formerly Democratic county chairman of Westchester county, a post he held for ten years, dating from 1912, and associated with President Roosevelt when the latter was a state senator, in fighting the selection of Tammany's choice for the United States Senate, William F. Sheehan, Mr. Allen recalled that he was in every Democratic campaign for nearly a quarter of a century.

In the 1932 campaign, Mr. Allen repudiated former Ambassador Gerard, he organized and was president of the National League of American Citizens of Foreign Descent, Inc., which campaigned among the racial groups throughout the country on behalf of Mr. Roosevelt. This service he undertook because, Mr. Allen pointed out, he was associated with Colonel E. M. House in negotiating the peace treaty in Paris and became acquainted with the problems of foreign nationalities and their descendants in America.

Mr. Allen's correspondence with Mr. Gerard was carried on when the former recently received a letter from America's war time ambassador to Germany asking for a campaign contribution.

While he cherished his old ties of friendship, Mr. Allen said it was "with sadness" that he had come to the conclusion that he could no longer support the President. Referring to the New Deal's policies, he said:

"If one examines the measures as a whole that have been introduced by the administration and the policies announced or attempted to be put into practice, it seems evident that the New Deal is trying to satisfy the demands for change that have been made upon it by the proposal of many various enactments that would seriously alter our form of government."

Enumerating the more important "policies" of the New Deal Administration which he considers dangerous, Mr. Allen continued:

"First, if the plans, as a whole, could be carried through they would result in a great concentration of power in the executive power of the federal government.

"Second, by greatly restricting the right of local self-government within the states.

"Third, by using the power of the federal executive thus created to regulate, in a planned economy, the activities of business and the production of agricultural commodities, to be carried on by means of a great bureaucracy subject to the executive.

"Fourth, it penalizes the thrift of some heads of citizens, by forcing them to support, through taxation, not only those out of work, but the indolent, which would gradually bring about a collectivist form of life, and further, the effect of these various plans would sacrifice the liberty of the individual. Moreover, while a totalitarian form of government may be possible in the comparatively small countries of Europe, I do not believe it is workable in such a country as ours, of continental dimensions.

The difficulty of attempting to reulate the political, economic, social and historical aspects of American life, said Mr. Allen further, resided in the fact that each segment of the country had its individual customs and were different in character.

"To regulate the activities of our people by laws and regulations in Washington," wrote the lawyer, "would, I believe, end in failure, if not in something worse."

Mr. Allen told Mr. Gerard how trying it was for him to quit the Roosevelt standard. "You can imagine," he confessed, "because of my long association with the Democratic party (I have been on the national campaign committee since 1912) that it is with sadness that I have come to the above conclusions, especially as I have so many warm personal friends in the administration or supporting it."

"I have had a warm personal regard for the President since the time when, as county chairman of Westchester county, I refused to support the candidacy of Mr. Sheehan for the senate, notwithstanding the pressure put upon me to do so, and stood with Mr. Roosevelt in his opposition to that appointment."

In a series of telegrams to Mr. Gerard, Mr. Allen also stated that while he did not question the "nobility" of the President's purpose, he was "appalled by the financial methods (the New Deal) adopted to pay deficits by loading banks with government securities." If continued, he warned, it "will lead to inflation or bankruptcy."

As chairman of the Roosevelt League of American Citizens of Foreign Descent in the last presidential campaign, Mr. Allen had as his associates in the organization such prominent Democrats as Vincent Dalley, right-bower of Democratic National Chairman, James A. Farley; United States Senators Robert F. Wagner and Royal S. Copeland; Robert Jackson, formerly secretary of the Democratic national committee, and Daniel H. Skilling, present secretary of the Democratic state committee.

Mr. Allen, who is a resident of Westchester county and maintains a summer home in Rhode Island, advised Ambassador Gerard that not only would he support Governor Landon, but that he intended to organize the Jeffersonian Democrats in Rhode Island to fight against President Roosevelt's election.

Double Murder and Suicide in Hills Near Port Jervis

Port Jervis, N. Y., Sept. 22 (AP)—State police described today as a double murder and suicide the slaying of three persons in the hills near here.

The victims were Merritt Meade, 28-year-old farmer, his wife, Grace, 26, and Louis Davey, 62, a farm hand.

Lieutenant Walter Riley of the Monroe outpost said Meade, brooding over a two-weeks estrangement from his wife, went to a nearby farm where she was working and killed her and Davey with a .32 caliber revolver. Then he took his own life.

The trooper said his investigation indicated Davey was the innocent victim of a domestic rift. He said Meade, apparently bent on killing his wife, shot down Davey when the elderly farm hand tried to dissuade him.

Riley said no eye witnesses to the shooting were found. He said Miss Isabelle Green, 52, who employed both Davey and Mrs. Meade "thought she heard some shots" but saw nothing. She stumbled over Davey's body behind a woodshed while searching the farm with the trooper.

Riley said that after shooting Davey, Meade apparently forced his wife at gun point into an automobile and started for his father's farm at Greenville, three miles away. En route, the trooper said, the young farmer shot his wife.

Arriving at the Meade farm, he dragged her body from the car while his terrified mother ran for aid. When she returned with her husband, they found their son fatally wounded beside his wife. He died a short time later in a hospital here.

The young couple were parents of a nine-year-old son, Merritt, Jr.

CAN CHICKEN THIS WAY

Yes, indeed, it's possible to can fried chicken! Easier, in fact, than canning it boiled and boned. And it's delicious!

You cut it up as usual and sear it to an appetizing brown in a little hot fat, sketch 1. Do not coat it with beaten egg, cornmeal, crumbs or flour. Such a coating keeps the heat from penetrating the chicken.

When the chicken is half or two-thirds done, pack it in hot sterilized pint jars—moderately full—putting flat pieces against the outside, and filling in the middle with drumsticks, thighs and wings (sketch 2).

Add a teaspoon of salt to each jar, and fill up jar with gravy. Make gravy by using 2 to 3 tablespoons of flour—brown in pan in which you fried chicken—to a pint of water. Jars should be so tightly packed that not much gravy is needed.

Put jars in rack and process in pressure cooker (sketch 3). Using 15 pounds pressure, give pint glass jars 65 minutes, quart 75 minutes, No. 2 tin cans 55 minutes, No. 3 tin cans 70.

Home-canned meat novelties delight the family and are so handy. Try canning meat loaf.

Recipes and full directions are given in our 40-page illustrated booklet, New Ways of Canning Fruits, Vegetables, and Meats. Handy charts.

Mother Pleads for Operation to Save Malformed Infant

Chicago, Sept. 22 (AP)—A mother's plea for an operation that might save her baby's life, and the father's demand that the malformed infant be allowed to die a "merciful death" today confronted physicians at Dan-sh-American Hospital.

Mrs. Eva Tafel, 22, mother of the baby boy and of a normal and healthy daughter 2 1/2 years old, pleaded "I want him." Her husband, Julian, a garage mechanic, replied: "It would be a sin to allow the poor child to live. He would probably be bedridden for life, and then he came to understand would curse us for allowing him to live."

The baby, named Julian, Jr., weighed 8 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces at birth Thursday. Doctors discovered a malformation of the intestinal tract—absence of a portion of the descending colon, and an abnormal condition of the bladder.

Dr. Louis K. Eastman, chief of the hospital staff, saw no chance for the infant's survival without an operation. Even if an operation were performed, he said, the boy probably always will be a cripple.

"The infant is literally starving to death, since the malformation makes it impossible for him to absorb nourishment," he said.

"But we cannot operate without Mr. Tafel's consent."

Mrs. Tafel, imploring her husband for permission, said "It would be a sin not to give him a chance to live. There is always hope. We can't let him die without trying to do something."

"My wife will have to wait on him and and foot, neglecting her own welfare and the welfare of our other child for his sake," Tafel demurred. "I can't allow it."

Physicians conferred with the parents today in an effort to reach an agreement.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS & SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Helen Flint was at it again, home-wrecking for the camera. She was at it with subtlety and a vengeance.

Her intended victim Humphrey Bogart and the picture "The Black Legion." She was, of course, trying to steal Bogart from his wife.

This, as every movie fan knows, is pretty thankless work. Unless the actress is a star, the husband—stealer is inevitably foiled in the end. And even a star, since the code went in, has to have some good reason for lorelei pursuits or she can't play that way.

But Helen goes about it as an acting job, and doesn't ask thanks. In person, she doesn't look like the bad girl she has played in nearly 30 Broadway plays, nor like the girl who caused so much trouble in the film "Ah, Wilderness!" and did the scheming heavy villainy in "Little Lord Fauntleroy." She is a trim little person with a soft voice and merry eyes. She hates profanity and likes novels with a religious flavor.

Shows Badness By Details. She, like everybody else, doesn't know why she came to be cast in tough roles, but as a fellow actor put it, it may be because "a good actress can play what she isn't better than a bad actress can play what she is."

Helen's own technique for a "bad" is simple: "I never think of a role as a person but simply as a collection of traits. The differences in women externally are slight. They are mostly in details that reflect either good or bad taste. Bad girls do not carry signs announcing their badness. They show it in small things—the hair a bit too frizzy, make-up a bit overdone, manner a bit too flamboyant, a bit too much consciousness of the body."

"I never wear exaggerated costumes. My method is to wear simple things and then play against them. The contrast between manner and dress makes the character."

Hollywood Makes An Ocean. There are more men than women stars, but in the chorus ranks this call sheet for "Gold Diggers of 1937" speaks for itself: "104 girls four boys."

The very latest in convincing ocean backgrounds—on a sound stage—is achieved by stretching hundreds of thin wires behind a gauze backdrop, and taping the wires with tinfoil at intervals.

The Hugh Herberts serve goat's milk—to guests who like it—from Puss, Cookie, Elmer and Quo-Go, the Herbert goats. Hugh's ranch barnyard now includes the goats, turkeys, ducks, chickens, a cow, a pig and four or five dogs. All have names.

Parent-Teacher Associations

P.-T. A. School No. 5

The P.-T. A. of School No. 5 held its first meeting after the summer adjournment, on Tuesday, September 15, at the school building. In the absence of the president and vice-presidents, the secretary opened the meeting and called for a temporary chairman. Mrs. Magley was appointed and conducted the meeting. The regular order of business was followed.

After reports had been accepted, Mr. Meagher extended greetings and gave a short talk on the benefits of the school patrol, the new working laws for children and the proposed apprentice training course to be given at night school.

The coming P.-T. A. Conference was discussed at length and delegates appointed to represent School No. 5. Mrs. Joseph Scholier was appointed convention chairman.

All teachers were present at the meeting and Miss Glendenning, Room 16, was represented by the greatest number of parents present. The next regular meeting will be Tuesday, October 13.

Lake Katrine

The first meeting of the new year of the Lake Katrine P.-T. A. association was held at the schoolhouse on Tuesday evening, September 15, Mrs. Hubert Brink presiding.

Opening song, America the Beautiful; reading of minutes, Mrs. Dan Morehouse; treasurer's report, Mrs. Pratt Boice. The following standing committees were appointed for the year: Hospitality, Mrs. C. Roosa, Mrs. D. Morehouse; membership, Mrs. C. Nichols; child welfare, Mrs. H. Keator; ways and means, Mrs. H. Van Aken; publicity, Mrs. W. T. Hooley, Jr.; program, October, Mr. and Mrs. A. Boice; November, Mr. and Mrs. H. Keator; December, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hooley, Jr.; January, Mrs. R. Everett, Mrs. L. Winchell; February, Mr. and Mrs. C. Nichols; March, Miss M. Lachmann; April, Mr. and Mrs. D. Morehouse; May, Mrs. K. Roosa, Mrs. H. Van Aken.

It has been decided to hold the meetings on the second Wednesday of the month; the next meeting will be held October 14, at the school house.

Three voting delegates were appointed to attend the Regional State Conference, to be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel on October 6-7.

As is the usual custom, books were presented to the pupils who graduated in the year 1936: Myron Boice, Norma Boice, Nancy Boice, Albert Decker and Harold Keator, Jr.

The meeting closed by singing Star Spangled Banner, and refreshments were served.

Marlborough

Marlborough, Sept. 21.—The first fall meeting of the Marlborough P.-T. A. was held at 3:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon in the local school building. It was a reception for the new teachers and Principal and Mrs. E. L. Dalby. A discussion on "Recreation a Community Project" was held. Miss Eleanor Hill, chairman of the program committee, assisted by Mrs. Quimby, gave an outline of the fall plans. Refreshments were served by a committee with chairman, Mrs. H. T. ## A high-contrast, black and white aerial photograph of a suburban neighborhood. The image shows a dense arrangement of houses with light-colored roofs, interspersed with dark, leafy trees. The perspective is from directly above, looking down on the residential area. The overall tone is stark due to the high contrast between the dark foliage and the light roofs.

Raging waters of the Concho river inundated every part of San Angelo, Texas, washing away 300 homes and badly damaging 500 others. Part of a residential district is shown under water. (Associated Press Photo)

Instructions to "repulse" the enemy advance on Theresia, part of a general invasion of northern New York.

The enemy was represented by silhouette targets. Hits tallied at the end of the day were to decide the outcome of the "battle."

Brig. Gen. Perry L. Miles is directing the maneuvers which army men say are more realistic than the first army maneuvers last year when no real ammunition was used.

Artillerymen moved big guns into place and an occasional boom was heard as the gunners tried out their aim in preparation for mass maneuvers of the brigade next week. This is regarded as the real test of the practice.

Gophers, Buckeyes, Irish Look Best In Midwest

By WILLIAM WEEKES

Chicago (AP)—It looks as though the grid machines of the central states—long rated as college football's toughest neighborhood—will have to put up with another season of pushing around at the hands of Minnesota, Ohio State and Notre Dame.

Minnesota and Ohio State, co-champions of the Big Ten conference, faced problems in the replacement of stars who were graduated or riddled by ineligibility, but both appear to have enough talent to keep them up there another season, at least—provided Northwestern doesn't upset them.

Notre Dame lost 19 lettermen but retained 16 for its 9-game campaign which harbors no "breathers." Michigan State and Marquette, rapidly gaining stature in the football scheme, also are primed for victory marches.

The loss of such Minnesota greats as Glenn Seidel, George Roscoe, Sheldon (Shotgun) Beise, Dick Smith and Dale Rennebohm might wreck some elevens, but at Minnesota, Coach Bernie Bierman's biggest worry appears to be time. He has Sam Hunt to move in at quarterback where Seidel starred last fall. Rudy Gmitro for Beise's fullback post, and Earl (Bud) Svendsen as Rennebohm's successor at center—along with typical Gopher talent for the other spots.

Ohio State Strong As Ever

However, Bierman had less than a month to get his machinery tuned up for the opening battle with the University of Washington, ranked as the Pacific Coast's standout, on September 26 at Seattle.

Ohio State, which must face New York University and Pittsburgh in its first two games, has 16 lettermen, at least one for every position, to man Francis Schmidt's highly specialized forward and lateral passes. The list includes "Jumping Joe" Williams, one of 1935's prize sophomore backs, Capt. Merle Wendt, all-Big Ten end, William Harrison (Tippy) Dye at quarterback, and Inwood Smith, outstanding guard.

Thoroughly broken into Coach Lynn Waldorf's methods, Northwestern has the makings of a misery-dealing eleven. For his second season in the Big Ten, Waldorf will start off with 20 lettermen, and a fine sophomore crop. Northwestern upset Notre Dame last year.

Michigan On Comeback Trail

Every other team in the conference, with the exception of Chicago and Iowa, promises to be stronger than last year. Purdue, hurt by the loss of Ed Skorokaki, center, in last midseason, has 17 letter winners. Michigan, slowly moving back toward the top since the disastrous 1934 campaign, has 18—and its best sophomore crop since 1931. Wisconsin, with 19 varsity veterans, is expecting a revival under Harry Stuhldreher, who succeeds Dr. Clarence Wiley Spears in the Big Ten's only major coaching shift.

For the first time in five seasons Bob Zuppke, dean of Big Ten coaches, will have a few heavyweights on his Illinois squad.

Iowa will rely on its spectacular negro fullback, slippery Ose Simmonds, and 17 other lettermen. Indiana figures to be troublesome if the injury jinx doesn't attack Coach Bo McMillin again.

With Jay Berwanger as assistant coach instead of playing, Chicago appears doomed to last place in the final standing. Coach Clark Shaughnessy has only 10 lettermen.

Chevrolet Accepts the C.&R. Challenge

Johnny Doyle's Chevrolet softballers, newly crowned champions of the Triple A Open League, have accepted the challenge put forth by the C & R to play a three-out-of-five series. With C & R unable to play evenings the Chevies agree with their idea of playing a triple-header on Sunday, September 27. As the playing season is now drawing rapidly to a close the tri-game affair is the only solution to make this series possible.

"The Chevies," said Doyle, "express their sincerest thanks to the Socials for their kind heartedness in forfeiting the game which gave them undecided championship, having there by won both halves."

High School Gridders Go Through Strenuous Practice for Liberty

WRESTLING LAST NIGHT.

(By The Associated Press)

Wilmington, Del.—Yvon Robert, 218, Montreal, defeated George Koverly, 215, Hollywood, Cal., two straight falls.

Lancaster, Pa.—George Becker, 184, California, threw Tony Siano, 178, New York, 40 minutes.

Portland, Ore.—Al Williams, 165, Chicago, defeated Don Sugal, 160, Salem, Ore., and Walter Achli, 161, Dayton, Ohio, (two matches).

Entering into the final phase of practice for the initial contest with Liberty, Coach G. Warren Kias put his charges through a strenuous session Monday afternoon. Abandoning the usual preliminary tactics, the Maroon major domo ordered a group of backs and linemen through a series of blocking maneuvers. Stimulating actual conditions, the proper pulling out of line and the correct block were emphasized on end sweeps and off-tackle slashes. A short but comprehensive passing drill was also enacted, with several formations being unlimbered.

While the "A" and "B" units ran through a prolonged signal practice drill, Assistant Coaches Fuller and Anderson supervised a contact drill between "C" and "D" combines. The affair was strictly informal as it was "D" squad's first call to arms in the football warfare being staged between the four groups. Assistant Coach Anderson took a personal hand in the fray, reeling off several pretty gains amid the plaudits of the onlookers. The "little giant" flashed spectacular footwork to temporarily dazzle his inexperienced opponents, albeit he was spilled hard on occasions.

Johnny Cappprotti, recruited from the onlookers, paved the way for several of the mighty mite's runs with some unorthodox but effective blocking. Yesterday's practice marked the first appearance of Elmer Hopper, last year's captain, on the coaching staff. "Hop" is extremely popular and is well versed by experience to lead valuable aid to the beginners.

"Lefty Joe" Garland, substitute center, had the misfortune to become the first casualty of the season when he developed a case of water on the knee. The jocular reserve's humorous spirit will be missed for the balance of the season as the injury compelled his withdrawal from the squad. Tommy Maines was also absent due to a slight aggravation to a hand injury incurred during last week's sessions. It is expected he will be back in uniform in the near future.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT.

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—Eddie Carroll, 144½, Ottawa, Can., outpointed Toots Bersa, 154, Milwaukee, (3).

New York—Lizy Jannazzo, 147½, New York, outpointed Gustav Eder, 147, Germany, (15).

Louisville—Lloyd Pina, 127½, Akron, Ohio, outpointed Jimmy Rucker, 127, Louisville, (10).

Miami, Fla.—Sam Tronchodon, 134½, West Palm Beach, Fla., outpointed Tony Nania, 141½, Tampa, (3).

Giants All Set, National League Interest Centers on Cubs, Cards

Associated Press Sports Writer.

While the National League took the pennant out of the mothballs and prepared to present it to the Giants, possibly before nightfall, the main interest in the dying campaign centered today on the second-place fight, and the Pirates' chances of ousting out the Cubs and Cardinals.

The Giants need but two victories to nail the flag to their mast. Victory in both ends of today's double-header in Philadelphia would do the trick. So would a split, if the Cards, who regained second place yesterday by beating the Cubs 5-4, drop their start against the Reds.

The situation, as of what may be the final day of actual fighting for the pennant, lines up this way:

Clubs W. L. G.B. G.P.

Giants . . . . . 89 57 8 8
Cardinals . . . . . 84 64 6 8
Cubs . . . . . 84 65 6 4

But while the Giants have been staging their red-hot drive to the pennant, the Pirates' revival has been lost in the scramble. The fact that they're only two games out of third place and 2½ away from second hasn't received any more notice than the news of the dog biting the man.

With both the Cards and Cubs showing definite signs of falling apart completely, even before this final week of the season ends, the Bucs may yet step in to take the second-place out of the world's series melon.

The victory of the gas house gang over the ex-champs from Chicago yesterday in their up-and-down, down-and-up scramble profiled neither of the contending parties so much as it did the Giants and Pirates. For, when the Cards scored the winning run in the ninth, it maintained the six-game lead of the Giants, who were idle, and boosted the Bucs, who also had a day off, another half-game toward third place.

It also just about killed the Cubs last chance of hanging onto the National League pennant. The best they can get now, even if they win their remaining games and the Giants lose all theirs, would be a tie.

The Cub-Card clash was one of the two games on the major league front yesterday. Three were scheduled, but the Giants-Phillies opener was rained out.

In the only other game played, the Dodgers, shaking the doldrums through which they lost three straight to the Giants, battered the Boston Bees 7-1 behind Fred Frankhouse's six-hit pitching. Jack Winn, Dodger rookie from the American Association, led the 14-hit attack with a pair of doubles driving in two runs.

Yankees in Five, Says Joe McCarthy

"The Yankees to win the World Series in five games!"

That is the prediction of Joe McCarthy, manager of the Yanks' 1936 American League team, on the eve of the big battle between the Yanks and their National League opponents. Writing in the current Liberty magazine, McCarthy emphasizes the strength of all his team's departments and insists that once the Yankees start rolling in this series, they won't be stopped.

McCarthy says the National League opponent will be in for a big surprise just as everybody was surprised by the good showing of the Yanks this season. In a national poll of sports writers taken early in 1936 only six writers picked the Ruppertians to win the pennant, the manager points out.

"And I've heard a lot of fans say we were lucky to win the pennant—and I agree with them," he adds. "We are lucky DIMAGGIO turned out to be as good a ballplayer as our scouts said he'd be. We were lucky Malose and Hadley came through to pick up the pitching slack left by Lefty Gomez's disappointing showing. We were lucky Lazzari's legs held up. We were lucky Gehrig didn't get hurt."

"Certainly we were lucky, and we won because Lady Luck was on our side. But if any of those fans want to insist we won only because of luck, then they'll have to name me one pennant winner in the last twenty years that wasn't favored by the breaks."

Creel Far Ahead of Southpaw, Golfers

St. Louis, Sept. 22 (AP)—Holding an approximate two-stroke-hole advantage over his opponent, Howard Creel of Pueblo, Colo., stretched far out in front of the field today as the left-handed golfers started match play in their inaugural national tournament.

Creel, low qualifier for the 1934 national amateur open, became medalist and a heavy favorite to wear the southpaw crown when he went one below par for 36 holes to qualify at 141. He turned in a par first round of 71 and followed it up with a 70. He was paired today against Jesse Drew, St. Louis, who qualified at 170.

Sam Arnold of Kirksville, Missouri southpaw champion, came in nine strokes behind Creel as second-low qualifier with a 76, 74—150.

The New England champion, Spencer Brinard of New Haven, Conn., followed with a pair of 76's.

Woodcliff Bouts Tomorrow Night

Middleweights and lightweight will bask in the spotlight Wednesday night at the Woodcliff Park Arena, Poughkeepsie, in the regular Hudson Valley Golden Glove boxing show.

Joe Farila, the iron man of Middleweight, will oppose Tommy King of Madison, who has won for three consecutive years the Buffalo Golden Glove middleweight title. This bout, scheduled for five rounds, will hardly go the distance as both boys carry plenty of power in the punches and are continuously throwing leather.

The other feature bouts—feather local aspirants for middleweight honors, "Wildman" Eddie Steele and Pete Dubois.

The balance of the card of three rounds will show youngsters who have won previous contests and are fast heading for some of the main events.

A new $2,000,000 bridge is to be built by Columbia, Ind., across the Hoosier.

WINGBACKS

by TINY THORNHILL

HERE'S WHAT Coach Tiny Thornhill of Stanford means by expert blocking being essential to success in any football system . . . that's Tiny himself with the ball. He played for Pop Warner at Pittsburgh.

(Second in a series of 12 daily articles prepared by the Coach of Stanford's Rose Bowl champions in collaboration with Russ Newland, Associated Press sports writer.)

Frequent criticism is heard that the double wingback style of offense does not click at some time or another when it is most vitally necessary. Actually, this criticism should apply to any and all so-called systems or types of play. In theory, any of the standardized or popular methods of advancing the ball are fool-proof. If every player handles his assignment perfectly there is no apparent reason why the ball should not advance.

To theorize on the blackboard is one thing but the execution of the play on the field is something else again.

One of the reasons why the double wingback offense does not click at times is the failure to get the interference out.

It is almost necessary to have played this style of football to really make it function from a coaching standpoint. There are exceptions to the rule, of course, but such cases have been few and far between.

There are certain steps used by the linemen and backfield men which make it click. Necessarily, anyone who through actual play has learned the fundamentals of the style of play popularized by Glenn Scooby Warner should in most cases be better fitted to teach it than those who have acquired their knowledge through coaching schools or by observation.

Any system or type of play is used no longer as you win games.

Peter Keresman Honored with the Presidency of Kingston A.B.C. Unit

Patrolman Peter Keresman, about whom there can always be written a story because of his various activities, had another honor heaped upon him at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night. He was elected president of the newly formed Kingston City Bowling Association, affiliated with the American Bowling Congress.

The well-known kegler, who has been president of the City League for 19 years in succession, is secretary and former president of the New York State Police Conference, president of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association and interested in various civic activities, was elected as head of the new organization by the bowlers in recognition of the fact he has put forth in the past three years for its formation.

Other officers elected were James Norton, city engineer, vice president; Charles J. Tiano, sports editor, Kingston Daily Leader, secretary; and Jose Alvarez, manager A. R. Newcombe & Co., treasurer. A board of governors and additional vice presidents will be elected after the local association received its charter from the national headquarters.

Secretary Tiano was instructed to file formal application for the charter and after it has been received, the procedure of sanctioning the various leagues will start. Silver Palace League contests tonight and Wednesday will be rolled subject to the rules of the A. B. C. so they may be included in the records for the year.

Under the guidance of President Keresman, the new bowling association is expected to flourish as has the City League and other enterprises to which he has given his attention; and because of the A. B. C. affiliation the game of tenpins will enjoy the highest possible standards, and Kingston may compete in the annual congress of bowlers.

City League

Prior to the big bowling meeting, the City League held its meeting in the Y. M. C. A., and 10 teams signed up for the schedule which is to open officially on Monday night, October 12.

Teams in the league are Uptown Merchants, Downtown Merchants, American Legion, Y. M. C. A., Central Hudson, Colonials, Livingstons, St. Peter's, Lyceums and Immanuel.

As in past years, the practice matches two weeks prior to the formal opening of the league, are scheduled as follows:

September 28

Immanuel vs. Livingstons at Immanuel.

October 5

American Legion vs. Uptown Merchants at Colonials.

Lyceums vs. St. Peter's at St. Peter's.

Central Hudson vs. Y. M. C. A. at Emericks.

Colonials vs. Downtown Merchants at Emericks.

October 5

Central Hudson vs. American Legion at Emericks.

Downtown Merchants vs. Uptown Merchants at Colonials.

St. Peter's vs. Immanuel at St. Peter's.

Lyceums vs. Livingstons at Immanuel.

Colonials vs. Y. M. C. A. at Y. M. C. A.

Bowling Tonight

Gold Division

Crystal Beauty Shoppe vs. Jack's.

Silver Division

Williams vs. Canfield, 7-5.

Wednesday—Silver Division

Bill Moons vs. Apollo, 1-2.

Quick Savers vs. Telos, 3-4.

Jim Norton vs. Indiana, 5-6.

Suttons vs. Howler-Trojans, 7-8.

Op and cigarette smokers in Alameda last year paid $2,245.937 in taxes that went directly into a local educational trust fund.

Two October Basketball Games for Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials

Mayor Conrad J. Heisel and the Auditorium building committee, Aldermen Paul Zaccaro, chairman; James E. Conner, Eugene Cornwell, Elmer F. Renn, tenth and Bernard H. Thirteenth—Frank Morgenweck talked over a proposed new arrangement and gave some information about two exhibition games.

The exhibitions will be played on the first on Tuesday, October 1st, and the second on Wednesday, October 2nd, at the Auditorium building, starting October 1st.

Morgenweck expressed a desire to have the work out in the Auditorium as much as possible, so that the team may have no chance of being disturbed by the noise of the city.

He said that the team will be made up of the Colonials (trade names being used this year), Jewish Veterans, Philadelphia Hebrews, Union City and Newark. Whether the Jewish and Veterans will play in Brooklyn has not been settled, Morgenweck said, and also stated that the anticipated applications from Atlantic City and Washington didn't turn up.

Morgenweck has nothing to say about his lineup, in addition to what he announced earlier about Fred "Fritz" Sorenson having signed the contract and that "Burr" Kneibler would return to help run and coach the team. He said he had heard that Kneibler, Carl Rosen, Hearn and maybe Frank Hearn would be back from the Brooklyn team, and also that Kneibler, Fred Sorenson and Hearn would be back from the Brooklyn team.

Hearn stated a committee for the work of the team will be made up of the Colonials, Jewish Veterans, Philadelphia Hebrews, Union City and Newark. Whether the Jewish and Veterans will play in Brooklyn has not been settled, Morgenweck said, and also stated that the anticipated applications from Atlantic City and Washington didn't turn up.

Louis Favored 5-1 To Defeat Ettora

Philadelphia, Sept. 22 (AP)—Joe Louis' climb up the comeback ladder hits an uncertain rung tonight. The Brown Bomber collides with Philadelphia's fast pride and joy Al Ettora, and even his strongest backers agree that it's as tough an assignment as he has faced.

Still, with the scheduled 15-round bout in Municipal Stadium only hours away the boys in the street would cover a one-spot with two or three like it that the inscrutable Louis gets past the test with ease.

They said Ettora looked poorly in his final workout, against a Louis who has regained the stride he measured until Max Schmeling interrupted his dreams of the heavyweight crown last June.

The weatherman promised fair weather, and Co-promoter Herman Taylor said "at least" 50,000 fans would assemble on the site where, in a deluge ten years ago last night, Gene Tunney dethroned Jack Dempsey.

The crowd would be the largest here since the Dempsey-Tunney scrap, and Taylor's estimated gate of $200,000 the biggest "take" since the same event.

Outside the city betting ran as high as five to one on Louis.

Those who like Ettora, and they're easy to find, base their confidence mainly upon two things:

First, the utter absence of fear from his make-up. His backers contend that many of Louis' opponents were beaten before they climbed into the ring.

Second, his style of fighting—in close, hammering away with shorts from either side, making himself a small target while putting over punishing body punches.

Amateurs Asked To Opine on Styries

New York, Sept. 22 (AP)—The styrie situation still is stymied. In the secret sanctum of the United States Golf Association officials and experts are trying to decide whether the pesky putting blockade should be abolished.

Before then they have the views of 208 contestants in the recent 40th amateur championship who were asked to give detailed reports on styries, plus their opinions.

The result of the study probably will not be announced until the association's annual meeting next January. Even then it is unlikely association members will be given a chance to bring it up on the floor because, if custom is followed, the problem will be thrashed out in a star chamber session.

However, the golf biggies are feeling the pressure more and more every day for the elimination of the styrie. It was retained by a close margin of votes at January's convocation. Since then the powerful Western Golf Association, California and Massachusetts state associations and the northern California district have abolished it.

Inquiries among the players last week revealed the majority is in favor of abolishing the styrie. But official quarters still are reported to be strong for its retention.

No Advantages

New York, Sept. 22—Foreign racing champions competing in the international 400-mile automobile race here on Columbus Day, October 12, will have no advantage over the Yankee speed stars, according to Wilbur Shaw, who has raced against them on their own tracks abroad.

Shaw, Los Angeles speedster, who twice was second in Indianapolis races, has arrived at Roosevelt Raceway to prepare his car for the George Vanderbilt Cup event, $60,000 added, on Columbus Day.

Two October Basketball Games for Morgenweck's Kingston Colonials

Busy Backstop

Fifteen years ago the New York Yankees and the Giants met for the first time in the World Series. It marked the first time any one city had a monopoly on the fall classic since the inauguration of the World Series under the new rules in 1905. The Yankees took the first two games on shutouts by Carl Mays, the submarine hurler, and Waite Hoyt. The Giants grew stronger as the series progressed and wore their American League rivals down to take the series, 5 games to 3.

Since the Polo Grounds at that time was home park of both clubs, the teams changed uniforms and dugouts to indicate which was the home team and which was the visiting outfit. It was an odd sight to many of the spectators—most of them seeing the gray traveling uniforms of their favorites for the first time.

To make the "civil war" between the two New York teams complete, the Meusel brothers, Bob of the Yankees and Irish of the Giants, opposed each other. It was a hot series and many a sideline argument wound up in a fist fight.

In the very first game Mike McGowan, the Yankee third baseman, stole home while Catcher Frank Snyder tried vainly to tag him at the plate. Later in the contest, after Peckinpaugh had singled, Bob Meusel poked a long triple to left center. Peek jogged home leisurely on the blow. Meusel was charged to learn that he had been called out for failing to touch first base. Luckily, the lapse did not affect the final result of the game for Mays shut out the Giants.

British Will Send Jumping Team Here

The British Army, which sent a team here in 1919 to help inaugurate international military jumping at the National Horse Show, will enter a team in the night jumping competitions at this year's show in Madison Square Garden, November 4-10, according to announcement today by J. Spencer Weed, president of the National Horse Show.

When the late Alfred G. Vanderbilt inaugurated military jumping 26 years ago, there were few events for the officers and the feature was an incidental one on the program. Since then interest has grown in this phase of horsemanship until the army riders compete every night in one of the outstanding features of the National.

The acceptance of the British of the National's invitation to compete marked the fifth government to accept the offer four being Chile, Irish Free State, Canada and the U. S. Several other governments and officials are looking forward to the largest entry list in the international jumping that the show has ever had.

Last appearance of the British at the National was made in 1901 when the team won the Brooks-Bright Foundation cup and finished second in the $2,000 Open Jumper Stake.

Boxer, German Breed of Dog, Suggestive of Dane

The boxer is purely a German breed of dog suggestive of a Great Dane and the English bulldog. Its origin, according to a writer in the Los Angeles Times, has many tales, but quoting from the official handbook on the boxer published by the Boxer Club in Munich, Germany: "The Brabant bull-baiter is the direct sire of our boxer. . . . The Englishmen, who are geniuses as dog breeders, fastened on the grotesque and super-typical features of the small bull-baiter, and so created the modern British bulldog. The more practical German did not want to sacrifice the usefulness of the bull-baiter to fantastic appearances. . . . But soon bulldogs came from England and were crossed with our dogs. With them came the English word boxer. We then bred the English bulldog blood right out of the strain. It is misleading to associate the British bulldog with the boxer. The two breeds have a common ancestor—that is all."

Their high rate of intelligence makes them good subjects for police training and they receive much recognition for this type of work.

Character in Eyes

Clear, well-opened eyes looking straight at you show an open, frank nature; half-opened eyes denote a rather secretive nature; eyes looking sideways, a shy nature; eyes which first look at you, and then wander restlessly around, a nature which begins well, but does not stay long, according to a writer in Pearson's Weekly. Eyes dancing about and never still indicate an unstable nature, not to be relied upon; restless, narrow eyes, a calculating and cruel nature; screwed-up eyes which make a ridge or frown mark over the nose are discontented eyes; never satisfied no matter what good things come their way, eyes which look down all the time and only glance at you now and again, are eyes of the not quite honest person.

First American Meat Packer

The first American meat packer were Colonial farmers who, within the lifetime of the Pilgrim Fathers, began packing away in salt not only pork and beef, but also chicken and even bear meat. After 1841, while England was busy with her Cromwellian troubles, these farmers were able to take over the British trade in meats with the West Indies. The first American to give his whole time to meat packing is believed to have been W. L. H. Parsons, the founder of Springfield, Mass., who started slaughtering cattle to Boston in 1853 and was packing large numbers of hogs by 1862.

Good Record in Scout Activities Shown by Reports

John F. Carnright, general chairman of the Boy Scout finance campaign in the counties of Ulster and Greene, announces that excellent progress has been made in setting up the organization throughout the two counties.

In the Northern District Mr. Carnright reports all communities except one with their local chairmen secured. In the Mountain District progress has been made. The Saugerties District reports 100 per cent on local chairmen, the Rondout Valley District reports two out of the four local chairmen ready to go and the western district is completed.

Mr. Carnright states that during the past 12 months 1093 boys have been enrolled in the various Scout troops throughout the two counties and that excellent progress is being made to extend this to even greater numbers.

Fred Van Voorhis of the camp committee recently reported that the past summer's camp proved a new high peak in the record for the organization. Boys were present in camp from Ellenville, High Falls, New Paltz, Walkill, Milton, Kingston, Port Ewen, Woodstock, Phoenix, Pine Hill, Saugerties, Catskill, Athens, Cairo, Greenville, Windham and Hunter. During the summer many boys qualified in Red Cross life saving and swimming. A large number of boys advanced in the various Scout and Camp requirements and practically every boy who was in camp showed an increase in weight. This benefit to the health of the youth is of considerable importance.

In the Good Turn service to the community and various institutions the troops throughout the area report many interesting and very worthwhile activities. Some of these gleaned from the various reports are as follows: repairing of church hymnals and song books; decorating of graves on Memorial Day; collecting and delivering of food and clothing to the needy; keeping grounds around churches and chapels clean and neat, assisting in fighting forest and grass fires near towns, delivering posters for Christmas Seal sale, and acting as ushers at community celebrations.

MAILBOROUGH

Mailborough, Sept. 22.—The Board of Education of the Central School system of Mailborough has set November 15 as the last date when first graders in any of the schools of the town can enter classes. This rule will do much to eliminate confusion and lack of efficiency which inevitably results from starting children any time during the school term. No child can enter school till he is five years of age, so that all those whose birthdays do not come before November 15 cannot start school until next term.

'Y' Workers' Parley Held on Sunday

Sunday afternoon beginning at 3:30 o'clock workers from the Y. M. C. A. held a setting-up conference at the Y. M. C. A. Camp at Glenelg lake. The conference was attended by the board of directors, trustees, committee men and other workers. Some of the men brought their families as guests.

The program opened with a devotional period conducted by the Rev. Arthur G. Carroll, minister of St. James M. E. Church. Following the worship service, Clarence Dumm, president of the "Y," presided at the conference and explained the purpose of the gathering, and stated that he hoped everyone in connection with the "Y" would display a greater loyalty and interest to it during the coming year, in order that the Association might move forward and be of great service to the men and boys of Kingston.

He then introduced Mr. Fuller, boys' work secretary of the "Y," and asked him to give a brief account of the Hi-Y Conference which had just completed a three-day conference at camp at the camp. The next order of the conference was the presentation of a novel way of those present. Each person introduced himself and gave a brief description of his connection with the "Y." The chairman then presented Robert Simpson, the new general secretary who brought greetings to the group and spoke of some of the things which he would like to see accomplished during the coming season.

At the conclusion of Mr. Simpson's address, the chairman asked the general secretary to present the next speaker of the day, who was Joseph B. Palmer, religious work secretary of the Bowers Branch of the N. Y. City Y. M. C. A. Mr. Palmer proved to be a most interesting speaker and had a message for the group appropriate for the occasion. He showed the need for an increased participation by the laymen in the work of the "Y," and that the young people of today are not the same as they were twenty or thirty years ago. Perhaps those who condemn have either a lapse of memory or just plainly do not care to admit the things they did in their time." He thought there was a need for a lecture for the parents and the youth, and that whether we believe it or not the young folk followed the example of the adults.

During the business meeting a motion was moved and seconded for reduction of all dormitory rooms as per the schedule presented by the secretary.

A discussion followed dealing with the physical equipment of the Boys' Division. Both Mr. Edson and B. C. An Ingen of the boys' work committee spoke to the effect that equipment is a very important factor in the character development and that the boys' department has been sadly needed for some time, and some means should be found in the very near future to do this.

President Dumm announced that the next regular board meeting would be held Monday, September 28, at the Kingston Y. M. C. A.

A supper was enjoyed by the group after the meeting which was prepared and served by Mrs. Chester Dumm.

Geneva, Sept. 22 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, in what Geneva considered a gesture of defiance, ordered the Italian delegation to bolt the international conference here today.

M. Demicheli, head of the Italian delegation, wrote to the president of the congress, expressing regret he was no longer able to participate in its work.

No reason was given. The broad-casting congress just is terminating its discussions.

However, Italian circles said the withdrawal was a manifestation of Italy's displeasure over the way the assembly is handling the Ethiopian question.

The development came after bewildered league statesmen, impressed by a small power revolt against the world court if that former African kingdom now is Italian.

Landon Sees Doom Of Party Bosses Who Bargain Relief

Aboard Landon Train in Missouri en route to Des Moines, Sept. 22 (AP)—Gov. Alf. M. Landon told Missouri crowds today that the nation's voters "demand that the political exploiters who are attempting to buy political support by swapping relief for votes shall themselves be removed from the public payroll."

The Republican candidate for president traveled across eastern Missouri on his way to Des Moines for a major farm address tonight.

"Our people," he said, "want the needy unemployed among our citizens to have the helping hand of government extended to them until they can get real work again at the best of good wages. But they want the administration of relief to be made honest and effective. They want it purged of waste, incompetence and absurdity. And they demand that the political exploiters who are attempting to buy political support by swapping relief for votes shall themselves be removed from the public payroll. And if I know the American people that's one of the things they are going to attend to next November."

Duce Orders His Delegates to Bolt League Conference

Geneva, Sept. 22 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini, in what Geneva considered a gesture of defiance, ordered the Italian delegation to bolt the international conference here today.

M. Demicheli, head of the Italian delegation, wrote to the president of the congress, expressing regret he was no longer able to participate in its work.

No reason was given. The broad-casting congress just is terminating its discussions.

However, Italian circles said the withdrawal was a manifestation of Italy's displeasure over the way the assembly is handling the Ethiopian question.

The development came after bewildered league statesmen, impressed by a small power revolt against the world court if that former African kingdom now is Italian.

Boys in Blue Jig To Trumpet Tune

Washington, Sept. 22 (AP)—General John A. Logan's daughter was in town today and the old soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic, holding their national encampment here, fell to reminiscing about the leader whose rallying cry was "Give 'em hell, boys! Give 'em hell!"

Mary Logan Tucker, whose father left a seat in congress to fight at Bull Run, called on Alexander Hamilton Roberts, 92, last survivor of Logan's command.

Mary Logan Tucker's presence set the "boys" in the hotel lobby to remembering stories of her famous father.

"Ever hear what Logan done after he passed through Atlanta?" one veteran shouted at his neighbor.

"Well, sir—"

Along the road, Logan found a new-born girl baby whose dad was with Lee. Because she was born in battle, Logan had his chaplain christen the infant "Shell Annie."

And before he went on, the general donated a month's provisions for mother and child, with a guard to see that no one stole them.

(Logan, an Illinois man, was elevated to the senate after the war and in 1884 he was the Republican nominee for vice-president, out lost.)

Shell Annie and her drums sounded on the crowded sidewalks near the downtown headquarters of the G. A. R. encampment today.

While some of the old soldiers danced jigs to back up Sol Zarbaugh's contention that the "boys in blue" will march again next year.

Answering those who suggested that tomorrow's parade down Pennsylvania avenue might be the army's last, the 90-year-old veteran who marched with Sherman to the sea declared:

"The grand old army will live as long as we live, and mark my words it will still parade."

Atharhacton Will Hold Reception

Thursday evening, September 10, Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge, No. 357, I. O. O. F. resumed the regular stated meetings, after being closed for the summer months. The usual routine of business was carried out.

Then a recess was called and a reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Newton Van Etten, the former being the newly elected district deputy grand master of Odd Fellows for this district.

The guests of honor were escorted to the altar by Warden Elizabeth Schwenk and Noble Grand Mrs. Jennie Hubbard, where they were presented to Mrs. Ethel Jones, who in turn escorted them to a table lavishly decorated with fall flowers, flanked by two beautiful American walnut chairs, upholstered in tapestry, one being a rocker, and the other a "pull up" chair.

Mrs. Jones in her usual charming manner presented the chairs to Mr. and Mrs. Van Etten on behalf of admiring friends of Atharhacton Lodge.

In recognition of the honor conferred on Mr. Van Etten, by the election to the high office of district deputy grand master.

In the course of his acceptance remarks Mr. Van Etten mentioned the fact that just 30 years ago, on September 10, he became a member of the Order of Odd Fellows. He is also a member of the Rebekah Lodge, but not of such long standing. At this time Mrs. Laura Snow Winter charmingly sang a solo, special words being written for this occasion, and sung to the air of "When I Grow too Old to Dream".

The singing as well as the words called forth much applause.

All were seated at two long tables, attractively decorated with asters and dahlias, and enjoyed a delicious covered dish supper.

There were about 100 present, including guests from Lucretia Lodge, Colonial Lodge, and Atharhacton members. During the supper Mrs. Ethel Jones presided in a most efficient manner as toastmistress, and called upon several of the guests, namely Brother Bodie, past district deputy grand patriarch, Brother Johnson, past district deputy grand master, Brother Slicker, past district deputy grand master. All responded with most pleasing remarks and congratulations for Mr. Van Etten on the honor that has come to him, he always has been, and still is, a most earnest worker for the Odd Fellows' order. Brothers Yost, Cure and Webster were also present. There was another guest present, whom we believe to be the oldest Odd Fellow in this district, Brother Halliday, and when called on by the toastmistress, responded in a most pleasing manner. Much merriment was added to the whole affair by singing "He's a Jolly Fellow" and "We Won't Get Home Until Morning". Altogether it was a most pleasant evening in Rebekah circles.

ST. KENY.

St. Keny, Sept. 21.—The pulpit was occupied on Sunday by the Rev. R. M. Bennett of Ulster Park, in the absence of the Rev. Philip Goertz.

The school tax collector, Mrs. Kenneth Brown is receiving taxes at her home, at one per cent.

The large oak tree in front of the residence of Kenneth Brown was blown down on Friday night during the wind storm. It was an old land mark.

The fruit growers are picking their apples, but the wind storm has felled quite a lot.

Mrs. Walter Cressler of Neshaminy called at the Ellsworth home on Sunday.

Yom Kippur, Most Solemn Occasion In Jewish Year

The plaintive music of Kol Nidre will usher in Yom Kippur or the Day of Atonement, at sun-down, Friday, September 25. This holiday, the most solemn occasion in the Jewish year, is known as "The Great White Fast". Devout Jews abstain from all food and drink during these 24 hours and spend the day in the synagogue in prayer, meditation, and supplication for forgiveness.

From biblical days, when this holiday was the occasion for special sacrifices and prayers in the Temple, Yom Kippur has carried with it an irresistible appeal for all Jews. It brings to a close the ten days of penitence which began on the Jewish New Year and its conclusion marks God's forgiveness for past sins and His blessing for the coming year.

This holy day is not founded upon an historical incident. Rather its appeal is direct and is made to the human heart and conscience. On this day each person must stand before His maker seeking to repent for his wrongdoing and promising to walk the way of righteousness hereafter. Its emphasis is upon the necessity for personal communion with God so that human life may be made as nearly like the divine as possible. Its message is one of hope, for God's blessing is assured to those who show a genuine desire to return to the good life.

During the Atonement Day a special memorial service is held for those who have passed on, which adds much to the dignity and solemnity of the day. (Notice prepared by The Tract Commission of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Merchants Building, Cincinnati, O.)
